MORE PROSPERITY JUST AHEAD IS PARTY CLAIM

Republicans, As Congress Is Closing, 'Point With Pride' to Accomplishments

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—With members of both houses straining impatiently to get away from Washington and back to political fence-mending at home, the second session of the sixty-seventh congress drew to a close today.

By nightfall, unless unexpected parliamentary obstacles arise, congress will be on its way home to inaugurate a hectic six weeks' campaign for re-election on November 7. There were genuine sighs of relief today on the part of Republican and Democrats alike over the closing of the tumultuous session, which began on December 5 last.

First Real Test

The approaching recess, for it will amount to that, in which President Harding intends calling into extra session the middle of November, will be the first real test the sixty-seventh congress has had since President Harding came into power on March 4, 1921. Within a month after his inauguration he called a special session. Except for a ten-day recess at the close of last November Congress has been steadily in session ever since.

Praised by the Republicans as one of the most constructive Congresses in recent history, and just as much damned by the Democrats as a "do nothing congress," the sixty-seventh leaves Washington in a state of nervous apprehension over the fate that awaits the entie membership of the house and one-third of the senate on November 7.

The Republicans are going home to praise the work of this congress and assure their constituents that a great era of prosperity lies just ahead as a result of the new tariff bill. They will also stress heavily the "business administration" inaugurated by the Republican administration.

Different Story

The Democrats are going home to tell their constituents that the new tariff bill is to raise the cost of living in the United States some $300,000,000 a year and they have organized a flying squadron of speakers to tear down the busi-

FIND IDEAS FOR NEW SANITARIUM

Dr. H. G. Westphal, Medical Head, and C. E. Kimlin Manager, On Trip

Dr. H. G. Westphal, medical superintendent, and C. E. Kimlin, manager of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, returned home last night from a two-day trip to San Diego and vicinity, where they visited the new government naval hospital in Balboa park and the new Seventh-day Adventist hospital in Paradise valley, with a view to gaining ideas for incorporation in the new sanitarium and hospital for Glendale.

Located on the choicest piece of ground in San Diego's vast city park, the naval hospital is one of the finest in the United States, Mr. Kimlin says. Everything modern in hospital construction is to be found in the new institution and although but recently opened it is already well filled.

Get New Ideas

The Southeastern Conference of the Seventh-day Adventist church has long maintained a hospital in Paradise valley, southeast of the city of San Diego. After years of success added accommodations have become necessary and a new hospital building is being built and Dr. Westphal and Mr. Kimlin inspected the new building to secure ideas they might use in the local building.

Plans for the new hospital for Glendale are being further developed and W. E. Whalen of Oakland, who is to superintend construction, has arrived in Glendale for another conference with Alfred F. Priest, architect, and officers of the sanitarium and hospital organization.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Head of 341 Patterson avenue have announced the marriage of their daughter Dorothy B. Head to John H. Mayall of Hillsboro, N. D., Thursday, September 21, 1922. Rev. C. R. Norton was the officiating minister.

Mrs. Mayall has many friends in Glendale where she and her parents have resided for ten years. She is a graduate of the Glendale high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayall will reside in Glendale for the present.

AUTOS IN COLLISION

Oliver L. Erbs of 1271 Thompson street had the right side of his automobile struck by another car yesterday when he was turning into Thompson street.

If Girl Is Classed As 'Baby Chick' She May Be Sent by Parcel Post; If Admitted 'Flapper' Uncle Sam Denies Her to Mails

Glendale lost an opportunity yesterday to swell its parcel post receipts.

The story of the "lost opportunity" was related this morning by George Hallett, assistant postmaster.

Yesterday afternoon a woman applied at the local postoffice for stamps enough to send her daughter, age 9 years, to Washington. The answer that such a thing was impossible was a complete shock to the woman, who insisted that "she had done it before in Minnesota."

The question was finally put up to Superintendent of Mails F. B. Walker, who handed down the following decision:

"If the girl was small enough to be classed as a 'baby chick' she could be handled by Uncle Sam's postoffice department. If, however, she was of the flapper class it couldn't be done."

In commenting on the problem today, Mr. Hallett said:

"Such a thing has been done in the rural districts, where the child would go along with the carrier in a machine to some nearby point on the same route. If the woman has done as she says she has, some postmaster made a mistake.

"Frequently we receive live, full-grown chickens and ducks, but they have been accepted in error and we must complete the delivery. It is permissible to ship baby chicks, however.

"If some postoffice should have made the mistake to accept the little girl for delivery by parcel post, someone would have to complete the delivery. Perhaps that is what happened before."

The name of the woman who wanted to parcel post her child? Well, the postal authorities are guarding that.

MON! MON! 'TWAS SCOTCH DAY FOR R-R-ROTARIANS

Br-r-aw Program, Full of Heather and Things, Hits Members Just Right

Hoot Mon! The Scots stormed and captured the Rotary club yesterday noon in a delightfully pleasing program, strictly Scotch, mind you, but effervescing with Highland exuberance.

William A. Tanner, chairman of group No. 1, in the club, had his five members co-operating in getting talent which will be hard to beat. There was George T. Vallance of Eagle Rock, for instance, a brother-in-law of Sir Harry Lauder, who sang and told stories to the Queen's taste, except there were two little queens there.

Lavina Woods and Jackie Barton, the latter only 9 years of age, did Scottish flings to the accompaniment of the bagpipe played by "Jock" Frazer and his boy prodigy, Alex McDougall.

Powerful Piper

"Jock," by the way, peddles the morning and afternoonn mail to some of the homes here and if he were a wee bit late yesterday, surely his patrons will be glad to know that as a carrier he is wonderful piper.

Little Alex gets a good wheeze (a Scotchman calls it music) out of the pipes, too, and Little Jackie tells stories as well as she dances, which says a lot.

F. J. W. Henry, who knows how to brew his rrr's and get a laugh from a story as dry as Gordon gin, acted as announcer, and it was a real pleasure to hear from Mr. Vallance, whose home in Scotland is the noted "Wee Hoose Amang the Heather." Paul Carson accompanied the songs, with the exception of the Harry Lauder Rotary song. Mr. Henry led the club in singing "Roamin' In the Gloamin'" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Educational Program

Visitors at the club yesterday included John Stannard, secretary of the Alameda Rotarians, Wallace Jones and Roland Keene of Los Angeles, and P. P. Duffy of Parsons, Kan.

President R. L. Kent announced that next week's program would be along educational lines. He and Secretary Rene Olin are now en route to Berkeley to attend a meeting of presidents and secretaries in Rotary International district No. 2.

Local Rotarians are invited to attend the barbecue given by the Ventura club on the opening day of the county fair there, October 4. Yesterday's luncheon served by Glen Inn was a delicious cold plate dinner topped with brick ice cream.

Several weeks were spent with friends and relatives in Portland and San Francisco.

The first regular meeting of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. Mae Rosenberg is president, was held yesterday afternoon at the school, with Mrs. Eustace Moore, federation president, and Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, as the special guests. Of particular interest was the discussion of the possibility and advisability of the establishment of a cafeteria at the Pacific Avenue school.

The regular meeting of the association was preceded by a session of the executive board, at which Mrs. George Moore tendered her resignation as vice-president on account of moving from the district. Mrs. Dean Phillips was elected to succeed Mrs. Moore in that office.

LOCAL MAN WILL ADDRESS SCOUTS

Invite Fred H. Killick to Help Santa Monica In Drive for Funds

The Boy Scout executives at Santa Monica have asked Fred H. Killick, 421 Oak street, Glendale, to be present at a big rally Saturday and speak to the public in connection with the scout movement. The rally is being held in connection with the drive to raise funds to carry on the program in the Crescent Bay district.

While not actively engaged in Boy Scout work in Glendale, Mr. Killick, with the aid of local scouts, gave an exhibition of lifesaving at Patterson Avenue park during August. At that time he gave a demonstration which may be repeated Saturday at Santa Monica.

Mr. Killick is said to be a recognized authority on lifesaving work, and will demonstrate how a suspension bridge may be made with rope and a blanket, to be stretched across a body of water or a canyon.

More Warlike Moves by Turkish Leaders

LONDON, Sept. 22.—While the government marked time in the Near East situation today and delegates of England, France, Italy and Jugo-Slavia again met in Paris for further discussion of peace conference plans, reports came out of Constantinople that Turkish cavalry was being concentrated all along the southern fringe of the neutral zone flanking the Turkish straits.

A press despatch from Constantinople said that Kemal was massing heavy guns south of Constantinople and that movements of infantry were under way to the southwest. General Pelle, French high commissioner at Constantinople, was said to fear that Kemal is determined to get the city vven at the cost of destroying it with shell fire.

Meanwhile, an insurrection of Turks is being planned in Thrace to menace the British troops from the rear.

The British are reinforcing both their land and naval forces at Chanak, the chief strategic point on the Dardanelles. It is at this point that the waterway separating Asia from Europe is narrowest and it is believed that Kemal would select this spot as the place to cross in the event he planned invasion of Europe.

G. H. HALL TELLS EXPERIENCES IN SO. AMERICA

Returns After Year Spent In Interesting Country; Relates Native Customs

Experiences of a year in Chile, South America, are being related by George H. Hall of 414 East Broadway, who has arrived in Glendale after a year at the Braden Copper Mining company's mine, "Teniente," located seventy-five miles from Santiago at an elevation of 7,000 feet in the Andes.

Mr. Hall was sent to Chile by the American Steel and Wire company in the capacity of field engineer to construct and put into operation an aerial tramway, four and a half miles in length to haul concentrates from the "Teniente" mill to the smelter.

The construction of the tramway was an engineering feat requiring expert skill and among the photographs brought back by Mr. Hall, one shows a portion of the tramway spanning a 2,200-foot canyon at a height of 875 feet.

Largest In World

The "Teniente" mine, which composes the small town of Sewell, is the largest underground copper mine in the world. An idea of its size may best be gained by the size of the payroll, which includes 8,000 men. According to history the mine was located many years ago by a Spanish lieutenant, and that is how it became known as the "Teniente," which is the Spanish word for lieutenant.

For the last ten or twelve years the "Teniente" has been operated by the Guggenheim interests, and, according to Mr. Hall, $1,200,000 worth of copper is handled at the mine every day and plans are for increasing that amount to $1,500,000.

One of the interesting features of the vast holdings is the arrangement for disposing of the tailings from the mine. In solving this problem the mine engineers developed the original idea of a large dam at the cost of $1,500,000. The tailings are washed to the dam, where the water is drained off and turned back into the river pure. It is said the dam offers ample storage for seventy-five years.

In making the trip to Chile Mr. Hall sailed from Chile, reaching

PROMINENT TRIO ATTENDS MEETING

Mrs. J. Robert White Tells of Distinguished Visitors at State Convention

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert White of 347 North Orange street returned late Wednesday night from a motor and vacation trip to Sacramento. While there they attended the state convention of the Republican party and also "listened in" on some of the Democratic convention.

At the Tuesday afternoon session of the Republican convention there were three distinguished visitors present who were escorted to the platform, "Governor-elect" Friend Richardson, Ex-Governor; now United States Senator, Hiram Johnson, and Governor Stephens, it being a very marked coincidence in having a past, present and "future" governor of the state in attendance.

The trip was of especial interest to Mrs. White, it being her first automobile journey through the state. Mrs. White states that in the region of Stockton, where there are a large number of grape vineyards, she counted fifty cars loaded with grapes in one train which passed them.

"We also passed one fig orchard covering over 12,000 acres. It is a wonderfully rich farming country in that district," Mrs. White stated.

Four New Members Received Into Camp

Initiation of four new members into the Royal Neighbors Camp of Glendale was conducted at the regular meeting of that organization last night by Mrs. Christiana Hamill, state supervising deputy. The new members are Mrs. Touhey, Gertrude Binder, Mrs. Hanes and Mrs. Flora Myers. The names of nine other applicants for membership were also balloted on.

Mrs. C. A. Bunting, vice-oracle, was elected as oracle for the remainder of this year and Mrs. Ida Leach elected to fill the vice-oracle's chair thus vacated. Plans are developing for an increased membership, as well as various social affairs for the fall and winter season.

Among the visitors present at last night's session were Mr. Hamill and District Deputy Josephine Hedge of Camp No. 2867, Mrs. Curtiss, Miss Fuqua and Miss Froshaur of California Camp, Mrs. Betts of Eupathy Camp No. 242 of Port Huron, Michigan, and Mrs. Lucas of Riverside.

CITY MAY CONNECT TO LOS ANGELES SEWER PLANT

Glendale's Council to Seek Further Information on Disposal Proposition

First official action toward securing connection with the new outfall sewer system to be constructed by Los Angeles under a $12,000,000 bond issue was taken by the city council last night, following a report favorable to such a move made by the Federated Improvement associations.

On motion of Councilman C. E. Kimlin, the council unanimously passed a resolution to the effect that the Los Angeles authorities be invited to confer with Glendale officials as to what the former city may have to offer in the way of sewage disposal facilities.

It was pointed out that the new system in Los Angeles will not be ready for service until 1927 and so it was suggested that in the meantime Glendale prepare a temporary sewage disposal plant.

To Show Requirements

Peter L. Ferry proposed that the city engineering department make a plat showing the required mains and laterals and on motion of Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson this idea was ordered put into effect.

Councilman Kimlin suggested that no more streets be paved until arrangements had been made for installing sewer pipes and the council ordered that such be the future policy of the city.

Dr. Jessie Russell submitted the report of the Federated Improvement association and said that information secured showed that Glendale, it seemed possible, could tie up with Los Angeles' new sewage system without annexation.

Mayor Spencer Robinson said that the cost to Glendale was now estimated at $250,000, not including the cost of the mains and laterals.

Temporary System

Councilman A. H. Lapham declared that the proposition from Los Angeles would, he believed, solve Glendale's sewage problems.

Councilmen united, however, in pointing out that the Los Angeles system will not be available until 1927, and in the meantime Glendale must, they said, make provisions for a temporary disposal plant.

The resolution adopted by the city council follows:

"Whereas, the city of Los An-

REDUCTION IN TAX RATE FOR EAGLE ROCK RESULTS

Total Less Than Last Year In Spite of Numerous Civic Improvements

The tax rate for Eagle Rock for the year 1922-1923 as recently fixed by the Los Angeles county supervisors has been set as follows:

Eagle Rock municipal rate	$1.33
County tax rate	.76
Flood control	.07
Total school tax	2.36
Total	$4.52

This shows the total as $4.52 for each $100 valuation, and is four cents less than the total tax rate for the year 1921-1922.

The Eagle Rock municipal tax rate of $1.33 is divided as follows:

General tax rate	$ .85
Library	.13
Central avenue	.08
59 street improvements	.14
City hall bonds	.13
Total	$1.33

Last year this same municipal tax rate was $1.51, which shows that notwithstanding that assessed property valuation has jumped from $2,410,875 to over $4,000,000 in Eagle Rock in one year, the tax rate has dropped from $1.51 to $1.33, a saving of 18 cents.

At the same time that property valuations were doubling in Eagle Rock, they were likewise doubling in the county, but, instead of the tax rate in the county decreasing as it did in Eagle Rock, it advanced almost 6 cents.

In addition to other expenditures, Eagle Rock is to spend $718,000 in the grammar and high schools with practically no increase in school tax. With the doubling of assessed valuation in the city, the many street improvements and almost $750,000 spent for schools, the total tax rate for the coming year is less than it was last year.

HOLLYWOOD GIRL PROTESTS; BANG!

Caught In Traffic Violation, Tells Hard Luck Story and Then—Wham!

"I don't mind in the slightest paying for something where it is clearly my fault," declared Mabel O. Booth, of Hollywood, as she deposited $5 bail with the clerk in the Eagle Rock city hall yesterday afternoon.

Miss Booth had been arrested by one of the speed cops for not giving an arm signal at the intersection of East Colorado boulevard and Eagle Rock road.

She greatly resented her arrest and felt that it was entirely uncalled for.

"Why, only last week, in Los Angeles, I took my eyes off the road for a moment and collided with another machine. It was clearly my fault and I gladly paid the damage," she related to Court Clerk McClay.

She paid the $5, obtained a receipt and walked out to her big closed machine parked at the curb.

Old Man Gloom There

Hard luck still pursued her, and whether or not it was her own fault is not known, but as she backed her car out from the curb with a flourish, there was a sickening smash as the rear of her car crashed into one of the trolley poles in the center of the street.

The collision didn't seem to hurt the pole much, but it certainly did ruin the appearance of her car.

She drove on without even getting out to inspect the damage.

NIGHT PATROL AT EAGLE ROCK TO BE IMPROVED

Mayor Sherrill B. Osborne Issues Statement In Regard to Change

Mayor Sherrill B. Osborne, of Eagle Rock, authorized the following statement in regard to the police situation.

"The reported statements that the city is to abandon the night police patrol service is without foundation.

"There have been changes and in a very short time a new system of night patrol will be inaugurated that will be superior to the system employed by the city up to a week or ten days ago."

To Make Appointments

While the night force consisting of Charles Cates, Ted McMahon and Harry Williams pressed into emergency service by City Marshal Claude Bramble, will undoubtedly constitute the night force for a few nights longer, it is understood that Mr. Bramble will present to the board of trustees at the meeting Monday night, the names of three new night policemen whom he now has under favorable consideration, to take the place of officers, Kast, Keniston and Arnold who resigned last Monday night.

STRAW BALLOT ON L. A. ANNEXATION TO BE TAKEN

Milton T. Hancock of Music Store In Eagle Rock, Asks People Vote

What is the exact attitude and feeling of the citizens of Eagle Rock on the annexation to Los Angeles proposition that is now, perhaps, one of the most important questions in the city?

Milton T. Hancock, of the Hancock Music Company, 114 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, is going to attempt to give the correct answer as to the way people in Eagle Rock stand on this question.

Arrangements are being made by Mr. Hancock to take a straw vote of the entire city. Straw ballots have been ordered printed, a ballot box in front of his store has been arranged for, and the actual start of taking a straw vote is expected to be underway within a few days.

Impartial Manner

"I propose to conduct this vote in an absolutely impartial manner," he declares. "The ballots are to be distributed to every home in the city."

The ballot box is to be sealed and locked, and the votes finally counted in the presence of a committee of judges chosen from four prominent citizens, said Mr. Hancock.

When asked as to his own views on the matter as to whether he was for or against annexation, Mr Hancock stated:

Gives Own Views

"Personally, as yet, I am neither for nor against it. I am willing to be shown, however, and I believe we should have meetings. I believe citizens should make speeches for and against it, and the matter be publically debated so that everyone can hear both sides of the argument.

"This is undoubtedly the most important question ever before the people of Eagle Rock and I believe it should be threshed out thoroughly."

New Ball Team to Play on Saturday

The newly organized Eagle Rock baseball team will play a game every Saturday and Sunday afternoon, according to Sam Clark, the peppy manager.

Saturday's game will be at Eagle Rock park at 3 p. m. the opposing team being the Eastern Outfitting company's crack baseball aggregation, that are claimed to have an all-star team.

Eagle Rock baseball fans are invited to come out in body and root for the home team.

Japanese Festival Is All Souls' Day

HONOLULU.—The large Japanese sections of Honolulu were the scene of a quaint festival recently, when every street and doorway was hung with lanterns, and lantern parades marched to the various Buddha shrines to pay homage to the departed spirits. O-Bon, the Nipponese "All Souls' Day," is known to foreigners as the "Feast of the Lanterns."

It is the tradition that Yana, god of the portals to the hereafter, opens the gates at sundown of this day, and the spirits of all good departed Japanese come forth to participate in the celebration.

"Iron to Gold," a western romance starring Dustin Farnum and Marguerite Marsh, will be the feature attraction at the Glendale theatre today. Farnum's portrayal of western roles is always a big film attraction, but it is said his work in this picture is equal to any seen before. Beautiful little Miss Marsh is a clever foil for her hero.

Brownie, the wonder dog, in "Cheerful Credit," is the best dog laugh of the year and the kiddies simply adore Brownie. News and Review reels complete the bill.

AUTOS IN CRASH; NO ONE INJURED

Each Driver Claims Other Cause of Accident on Eagle Rock Street

Two automobiles collided at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue, Eagle Rock, yesterday.

Ray F. Frazer, of 646 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, the driver of one of the machines that bore license 825202, in his report to the police department, declared that he was attempting to turn south into Central avenue when Robert O. Nassen, driving an automobile, license 464408, cut in between him and the flagpole and disregarded an arm signal, and damaged his car to the extent of ruining a front fender.

Mr. Nassen, who resides in Tujunga, also made a report to the police, and in describing the cause of the accident he states as follows:

"He gave no signal until I gave him the horn and then he kept right on coming."

No one was hurt and neither car was, apparently, badly damaged.

DUCK MAKES NEW RECORD FLIGHTS

Flies From Canada; Lands In Trinidad; Arctic Tern Is Champion

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Sampaio-Correia, giant man-made sea bird, winning its way to Rio de Janeiro, has a competitor, a true bird, the duck. A recent report received by F. C. Lincoln of the biological survey tells that a blue wing teal banded in Lake Scrugog, Canada, sixteen miles from Lake Ontario, was found in Trinidad two months and seven days later, having covered the three thousand miles in that time. It covered a route similar to that taken by the Sampaio-Correia.

It had been thought formerly that the ducks, whose breeding place was in Canada, made their winter home in our southern states.

Although the migration of birds has been studied for over thirty years, it was not until recently that the Canadian water fowl make a flight which outstrips that of our western ducks.

Champion of World

The champion long distance migrant of the world, however, is not the duck, but the Arctic tern. Its winter and summer residences are a mere eleven thousand miles apart. It breeds on the south coast of Greenland and on northern borders of North America, as far north as it can find land on which to build its nest, and in winter wings its way across two Americas to far beyond Cape Horn, as far south as there is open water to furnish it food. The tern makes a round trip of twenty-two thousand miles each year.

Many North American birds take an annual trip to South America. Most of them follow a route which necessitates a flight of five hundred to seven hundred miles across the Gulf of Mexico. A few, however, enter South America by way of Florida and the West Indies, while in the fall the golden plover flies over the ocean from Nova Scotia to South America, a distance of twenty-four hundred miles.

BOYS THRIVE ON GOLF BALL FEES

Hide In Grass to Grab Off Wild Ones; Punishment Awaits Them Now

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Golfers on the municipal links have just come into their own through the aid of Superintendent of Parks George W. Burke and Magistrate Tensard Dewolf of morals court. A pernicious practice by caddies and other bad boys has been stopped. Since the season opened this year golfers who hit the ball out of sight or off the course have been obliged to say "Good-bye" to those balls. But in a few minutes the caddies or some other kid would sell the "lost" ball back to the golfer fan for 10 cents. Superintendent Burke says that a lot of boys his in the bushes or tall grass and grabbed a good many balls and resold them over and over again. It developed into a thriving business and a costly nuisance.

Henceforth, all sellers of balls will be arrested if they cannot prove an honest title to same. Golfers buying stolen balls will be barred from the links. "And anybody brought before me in this connection I'm going to give a maximum sentence," said the magistrate.

Overdrew Account; Queer Court Case

AKRON, O.—A knotty legal tangle that may go to the State Supreme Court before final determination is disclosed in the trial hee of E. H. Cunningham, of Cuahoga Falls, on a charge of grand larceny.

The facts, according to the indictment upon which he will be tried are that Cunningham carried an account with the Ohio State Bank and Trust Company, and that, upon inquiring his balance, was told that it was $414. He wrote a check and drew this amount. It is declared, however, that his actual balance was $14.

The defense asserts that Cunningham made no false statements and that the money was paid him voluntarily.

EDISON HAS WAY TO DRAFT BILLS

Offers Suggestion For Use of Lawmakers; Go Step at Time, Is Plan

WASHINGTON — Thomas A. Edison, inventive genius of the century, has offered a "scientific bill-making plan" to Congress.

This was learned by the publication of Mr. Edison's testimony on the Muscle Shoals, Ala., power and nitrate projects, before the Senate agricultural committee.

"I worked in Washington during the war," the aged inventor told the committee. "I found out after a while that a lot of those fellows that were running the details of this government were not the real thing; they were counterfeits.

"I am surprised that you don't draw your bills differently," he continued. "Draw up a skeleton of your bill and specify the initial thing you have to do, and when that is done you will find out what the first step costs.

"Now, go ahead and continue it on by supplement, so you will know the progress of all your legislation and make them show up between each supplement. You would have saved five or six billion dollars here and you would not have got a lot of these inefficient people.

"It comes in sections and each time they come for more money you make an amendment to the act. Let them have it, but they have to show up.

Make First Start

"Under the war administration nobody had to show up. You will have it showed up by and by.

"You should always pass a bill that contains just the rudiments of the entire bill," Mr. Edison urged, "then you have the first start, the instrumentalities you start with to make that thing function, and spend several million dollars.

"When you have got through the first stage let them come to Congress and get the additional legislation to go ahead a little further, and when you have got through an examination of what has been done you will know if there is anything rotten in that, because you will see how all the money has been spent.

"But the way you do it now you make the bill and quit and never hear anything, and you try to get some information and you don't get any at all. They double-cross you all the time."

Watch Lost for 20 Years Found; Runs

He discovered it was a watch he had lost twenty years ago.

MOVING PICTURE DIRECTOR AND TWO OTHERS MAY FACE TRIALS FOR DEATH OF 'DARE-DEVIL' ACTOR

Mysterious Shooting, Said to Have Been Planned As Revolver Duel In Dark, Cause of Investigation by Authorities

HACKENSACK, N. J.—George Cline, moving picture director, his brother-in-law, Charles Scullion, and Scullion's sweetheart, 19-year-old Alice Thornton, an actress, are reported indicted by the Bergen county grand jury in connection with the fatal shooting of John Bergen, a movie actor, in the Cline home at Edgewater, N. J., on the night of August 25.

Jack Bergen, handsome "dare-devil" motion picture actor, stumbled out of the home of George Cline, motion picture director, at 190 Undercliff avenue, Edgewater, N. J., shortly after 9 o'clock on the night of August 25, mortally wounded, with a bullet hole through his chest. He died shortly afterward, but not before he had scribbled on a bloody piece of paper the words: "George Cline killed me."

Cline when arrested told a dramatic story of how he had befriended Bergen for several years until word came to him recently that the young actor had become over-intimate with Mrs. Cline. Summoned to the Cline home, according to the director's story, Bergen admitted his misconduct with Mrs. Cline while the three were at Saranac Lake, "on location" for a motion picture. Cline said he then challenged Bergen to go upstairs in the Cline home, where the two were to fight a revolver duel in the dark. He declared that Bergen attacked him while they were going up the stairs and the fatal shot which killed Bergen was fired.

Several days after Cline's arrest detectives uncovered a clue revealing that a "mysterious blonde" was in the Cline home on the night of the killing. It developed that she was Miss Alice Thornton, bank employe and sweetheart of Bergen. She had revealed to Cline, she admitted, Bergen's alleged intimacy with the former's wife, which Mrs. Cline confessed to also. Mrs. Jack Bergen, the deserted wife of Bergen, when informed of her husband's slaying was undisturbed. She observed that he had "died as he lived," and indicated no sign of grief. Mrs. Bergen said that she and their 4-year-old daughter had not seen Bergen for four years.

Mrs. Cline's brother, Charles Scullion, now in Hackensack jail with Cline, is said to have been in the Cline home on the night of the tragedy and, according to the testimony given to Prosecuting Attorney Archibald Hart, went upstairs and procured the revolver given to Bergen, with which he was to battle in the dark with Cline. Miss Margaret Walz, of Philadelphia, sister of Cline, whose real name is Walz, has rallied to the moving picture director's defense. She attributes the tragedy to the "recklessness of youth."

Both the wife and sweetheart of Bergen have publicly declared their belief that "Bergen got what he deserved."

MARGARET PARDON AND SABIN BUCK WED IN HOME

Hold Single Ring Ceremony and Then Depart for Honeymoon In Hills

The home of Dr. N. H. Pardon, 606 North Maryland avenue, was the scene of a very pretty wedding at 8:30 o'clock last night, Thursday, September 21, 1922, when his daughter, Miss Margaret Pardon, was married to Sabin Buck, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Buck, of 112 South Jackson street.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, of the First Presbyterian church officiated at the single ring ceremony. A profusion of asters and dahlias, in the pastel shades, intermingled with greenery, were used in decorating the bride's home.

Preceding the ceremony William Weldon, of Pasadena, cousin of the bridegroom, sang "At Dawning," and also gave several selections later in the evening. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Bertha Buck, also a cousin of the bridegroom.

Gowned In White

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding gown was of white silk canton crepe, trimmed with roses of the same material. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Leah Pardon, was the bridesmaid, and was attired in a pink taffeta frock, carrying pink and white sweetpeas. Eugene Sabin of Glendale, cousin of the bridegroom, was the best man.

The wedding was attended by a group of forty relatives and was followed by an informal reception, during which refreshments were served. The English custom of having a bride's cake and a bridegroom's cake, was carried out.

Honeymoon In Hills

Mr. and Mrs. Sabin Buck will spend their honeymoon in the Sierra Madre mountains. On their return they will be at home to their friends at 606 North Maryland avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Buck were members of the graduating class of 1919 from Glendale Union high school.

Mrs. Buck was employed at the Glendale public library until her resignation recently, and Mr. Buck is connected with the Brunswick Shoppe of Glendale. He is also president of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. W. R. Anderson of 118 North Louise street was operated on this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

'Around World' on Foot; Walked Beat

RICHWOOD, W. Va.—E. F. Taylor, faithful night watchman at the Cherry River Paper company's plant here, who has been walking his beat every night for the last ten years, has just completed a trip around the world right here in Richwood. Figuring that he takes 15,200 steps each night, or 15,480,000 steps in ten years at two and one-half feet to the step, he has traveled 138,700,000 feet, or 26,929 miles, which is more than the distance around the globe. Besides doing this nightly stunt at the paper mills Mr. Taylor walks quite a bit each day about the city and his home.

GREAT SHORTAGE IN OYSTERS NOW

Head of French Syndicate Says Sort of Fungus Kills Off Many

PARIS. — Oyster-lovers will have to take to eating other seafood, or pay high prices, for this season will see a great shortage in France.

Monsieur Prunier, president of the syndicate of oyster growers, says that the oyster mortality has been caused by a sort of fungus that has been growing with mushroom-like rapidity in the great beds of flat oysters in which the French specialize.

Owing to this disaster, 60,000 families on the coast, engaged in oyster culture, will find themselves without resources not only for this year but for four or five successive ones. At least one year must pass before new spats can be planted, and it takes a spat at least three years to become a full-fledged oyster.

They Will Cost More

Prices will jump because of this shortage. Marennes are going to cost about $1.50 a dozen and "Americans" at least $1—a price which will be prohibitive for the middle-class oyster eaters, whose numbers are many in France. Portuguese oysters, usually very cheap here because they are less choice, will rise in price because of the demand.

One consolation can be offered—the oyster will be absolutely healthful this year, and even the most fearful need have no qualms, thanks to the work of several sanitary associations which are at work in cleaning up the oyster-beds.

California's perfect woman says she wasn't born that way. Children never give their parents any credit.

APPEAL FOR MORE WORKERS TO AID RAILWAY DRIVE

Speakers at Luncheon of Advancement Association Urge Faster Action

"I emphasize and I am absolutely sincere in saying that this situation is serious," exclaimed P. J. Hayselden, chairman of the transportation committee, yesterday noon in the Broadway Inn, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Advancement Association.

An earnest appeal was made both by Mr. Hayselden and President C. W. Ingledue for more solicitors. They called attention to the fact that additional workers are needed at once.

"This railroad situation is serious," remarked Mr. Hayselden. "We have received pledges amounting to $16,500 and we have $8,500 more to raise. I would like to know where it is coming from. We have a number of workers out, but we haven't the number that we should have."

Ready to Collect

Mr. Ingledue asserted: "This proposition is lagging for lack of workers. The money is lying around and all that is needed to get it is workers."

According to Mr. Ingledue, two energetic solicitors secured pledges for $450 in a few hours yesterday morning.

The sewer problem was brought up by Mr. Ingledue, Dr. Jessie Russell reported on the probability of Glendale connecting with the Los Angeles outfall system and stated that this could not be done until about 1926. She stated that it was the opinion of experts that a local sewage disposal plant should be constructed for temporary use.

Salvation Army Drive

The Salvation Army drive next month was mentioned by J. L. S. Perch. The committee appointed consists of C. A. Fisher, L. N. Todd, W. C. Page, W. E. Mercer and C. F. Stuart.

C. E. Stanley, chairman of the postoffice committee, reported no further developments in regard to the branch postoffice. He stated that the necessary papers involved had been sent to the postoffice department at Washington and that Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson had not heard from them yet.

BANDITS SHOOT AT GIRL

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Sept. 22.—Four smartly dressed bandits held up the Packers State bank shortly before noon today and escaped with $1,400 after firing three shots at Miss Frances Griffin, 22, an employe who attempted to reach the burglar alarm.

High School Youth Playing Golf, Too

HUTCHINSON, Kan.—Emerson Carey, Jr., 16-year-old local high school boy, is the amateur golfing champion of this city. He has established a record for the lowest score among amateurs on three Hutchinson golf courses.

The youngster recently equalled the low score established for the nine-hole Country Club course by Arthur Andrews, professional, when he shot a 35 in foursome play.

Carey set a mark of 33 on the municipal course, and a short time later, to prove his consistency, played around his father's private course in 35.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENT

Lineberger Answers Charles H. Randall

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 21, 1922—Mr. Charles H. Randall, Pasadena, Calif. Dear Sir: Your letter of the 18th inst. is at hand, but I can see no necessity for a joint discussion such as you suggest, unless you are against the Eighteenth Amendment, the strengthening of the Volstead Act, the proper protection of our lemon, walnut and other California industries, the development of our harbor, adequate legislation in favor of the veterans of all wars, child labor laws, and a square deal for labor, for all of which I stand, in addition to being a republican who thoroughly believes in the principles of the party of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Harding.

As a republican I claim to represent the political as well as the moral sentiments of my district, and stand squarely on my record which I do not believe you can, with sincerity, attack.

We have a republican president, a substantial republican majority in both houses, and the vast majority of voters registered in this district are republican.

As you are not a republican, it is simply a question of whether or not the voters of the district believe that I, as a dry republican, in full sympathy with the moral as well as the political sentiments of the district can better represent them in the routine and legislative matters coming before a republican congress than one who stands on the all-embracing political platform of "all things to all men."

My time is so filled with my official duties that, as I said before, unless you are willing to go on record as against the things for which I stand, outside of our natural partisan differences, I must decline your invitation, and rest content to leave it to the decision of the voters of the ninth congressional district on November 7th, next, without intervening debate or parley between us.

In answering your letter I am ignoring your previous discourtesies to me in failing to acknowledge various letters to you, written in all good faith, and wish to advise you that since you have failed to acknowledge or reply to the letters to which I refer, I shall feel constrained to ignore future communications on all matters referring to your candidacy.

I regret very much to take this action, and am doing so without any personal ill-feeling toward you, but I believe that it is more than justifiable in view of the arbitrary position which you have taken in the premises.

Very truly yours,
WALTER F. LINEBERGER.

Planned Vacation; Judge Got Surprise

CINCINNATI, O.—What is said to be the first jury trial held in Hamilton county probate court during twenty-five years lasted for a month and deprived Judge Lueders of the time that he had planned for his vacation. Here Is Fine Fish Story; Perch Is Bait

MANSFIELD, O.—A H. Matson, of Concord, N. H., a visitor here, lays claim to first honors as the champion disciple of Izaak Walton, the dean of fishermen.

According to a story related by him to local lovers of the sport, he recently caught twenty small perch in one hour at his summer home, at Deer Island, N. H. Then, feeling a stronger tug on the line usually given by perch, Matson began a struggle. When his catch was finally safely landed he found that he had caught two. A perch had taken his bait, and then a hungry pickerel, twenty-seven inches long, had swallowed the perch he had already hooked.

LOCAL C. OF C. TO ENTERTAIN MEET

Valley Chambers Will Have Representatives Here on Tuesday, October 17

Glendale is to entertain representatives of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Fernando Valley at their next monthly meeting which is to be held on October 17. This was decided at a meeting held Tuesday night at Tujunga. About twelve cities are represented.

A number of important questions are expected to come up for discussion at the Glendale meeting, according to E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary of the Glendale chamber.

At the Tujunga meeting the subject of pensioning police and firemen of the City of Los Angeles came up for discussion. Inasmuch as several of the smaller cities are really a part of that city the citizens will have an opportunity to vote on the question which is to come up at the fall election.

Aim Is Explained

The aim, as explained, is to have the question settled for all time, instead of coming up every two years as has been the case in the past, it is announced.

A lengthy discussion was held, regarding the proposed $5,000,000 bond issue which is to be put before the voters of the state this fall in connection with the water and power act. It is declared that while the bill, which is known as bill No. 19, is meeting support in some parts of the state, it is also meeting with stiff opposition from other sections.

Following the business session, an entertainment was provided for those who attended the Tujunga meet.

SHOE HURLERS TO HOLD CONTESTS AT LONG BEACH

Glendale Pitchers Get Ready for State Tournament Last of Month

Members of the Glendale club of horseshoe pitchers are looking forward to the annual tournament of the California State Horseshoe Pitchers' tournament, which is to be held in Long Beach, September 28, 29 and 30.

The teams of the Glendale club are working hard for the event, according to W. H. Nicoles, the secretary. They expect to have some eight or ten entries in the various events, it is announced. They also have their eye on the first prize which is to be awarded this year in the form of a state banner. This is the first year that there has been a banner to contend for.

About thirteen teams are expected to contest for the banner.

It is announced that all of the events are open to any pitcher in California, except the second event.

Prizes To Be Given

About $500 in cash prizes and trophies will be given away.

Many experts have already made entries, among them Billy Crick of Oakland, who recently took ffith place at the national tournament in Des Moines; W. R. Bradfield, present state champion; A. F. Galloway, formerly of Akron, Ohio; G. M. E. Jensen of Fullerton; Gilman Hoyt, the "boy wonder"; George Dickerson, and many others.

All entries must be made not later than September 25 to George E. Grinbill, chairman, Long Beach. Each person limited to one entry only. The national rules will govern the tournament. Following is the prize list and events:

EXPERIENCED MEN DEPENDED UPON TO COP FLAG

Manager M'Graw Surrounds Himself With Players of Proved Ability

By FRED ORRIN
For U. S. Sports Service.

NEW YORK, Sept .22.—With Kelly on first base, Frankie Frisch at second, and George Bancroft holding down the short-stop territory, Manager McGraw has three men that represent as strong a trio as well may be found in either of the big leagues for the combination of power of their defense as well as their offense. By defense is meant, of course, their fielding ability, and the offense in their base running and batting.

We now come to third base, considered the difficult and strategical location. Heinie Groh is the individual to whom is entrusted the safe keeping of this sack. There are many who believe that Groh has seen the palmy days of his baseball career and that he is on the decline and there are few who will admit that he is as good as Joe Dugan of the Yanks. Certainly Groh has not been playing the game this season that he has been capable of in the past. Although he has not the clean-cut working appearance he should have, he is nevertheless a good fielder and is capable at the bat.

On Receiving End

Frank Snyder and Earl Smith are the two men on the receiving end of the Giant batteries. Both of them are reliable and should either one of them get hurt the other is counted on to carry on equally as well. In other words, there seems to be little choice between the capabilities of the two, it being practically a toss-up. If there is any choice it lies probably in the fact that Snyder is a better man on the offense, being a better hitter than his teammate.

Out in the prairies are Meusel, Stengel and Young and it can be safely said that nothing of real importance is getting by their line of defense that it is possible to put a stop to. Meusel is considered as a brilliant fielder and has one of the best throwing arms in the league, or either league, for that matter. Before going into the big leagues, he was a star of the Pacific Coast league where he batted well up over the .300 mark. In last year's world series he stood third in the Giant's batting order with .345. Only Frisch exceeded him in the number of runs scored during the eight games, Frisch having five while Meusel had four.

Consistent Worker

Young is an experienced player who can run, throw and hit to the satisfaction of the most critical manager. His work in the last world's series, while it did not shine particularly, nevertheless was consistent. The same general comment can be made in connection with Stengel, though the latter was not among those in the Giants' lineup in 1921 during the world's series.

When it comes to the squad of pitchers in any club, their number is such and their respective abilities so varied that there are as many opinions as there are those who discuss them. Broadly speaking, McGraw has gathered unto himself a batch of moundsmen who are able, collectively, to stand comparison with any other pitching staff in either league.

A SIGN

"That so? Why?"

"He never wants to have his hair cut."

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. — The Yanks and Giants are swinging down the road to the pennant in the last ten days each with a lead of three and a half games.

The Yanks' road appears to be smoother, while a few thorns have crossed up in the Giants' path. The Yanks have overcome all of the stern opposition in the west. Today they meet the Indians and Huggins' men do not look for any trouble. The Yanks need but four more victories to clinch the pennant, no matter if the Browns win their six remaining games. The Yanks have but seven more games to play. If the Yanks win four of their remaining games and the Browns win all their six games the final standing would be:

	Won	Lost
New York	95	59
St. Louis	94	60

The remaining games on the schedule favor the Yanks. They are playing the better ball of the two teams.

The Pirates are scuttling the Giants' pennant ship. Twice have they sunk the harpoon into the Polo grounds tribe. The final game will be played today. If the Pirates make it three straight they will have reduced the Giant lead to 2½ games. And if the Cards who start a series against the Giants tomorrow should follow the Pirates' example, while the Pirates are walloping the Dodgers in Brooklyn, the Pirates will have a good chance.

The Giants have elevnn games to play, while the Pirates have eight. The Giants can clinch the flag by winning seven of their remaining games, even if the Pirates win all their eight contests. The standing then would be:

	Won	Lost
Giants	93	61
Pirates	92	62

SPORTS CHATTER

By Bill Unmack

When Joie Ray, of the Illinois Athletic club won the United States one-mile running title at Newark, N. J., a few days ago, he equalled a record of eight straight years as track champion, which George Orton made from 1892 to 1899, inclusive.

Never in the history of mile running has Ray's performance been equalled in this country, if in any other part of the world. Orton won the A. A. U. mile title from 1892 to 1896, inclusive, or five straight years, but Ray now shows a clean sweep of this event for six straight years, from 1917 to 1922, inclusive. In 1915 Ray won the mile title first, the next year he ran in the five-mile event and won it, and since then he has been unbeatable in the mile, or a consecutive run of eight years as champion. Orton secured his eight years as champion with five straight as the mile title holder, and from 1897 to 1899, inclusive, he won the two-mile title.

The nearest approach to these two men's performances in straight year's victories on the track is that of the famous Lon Myers, who from 1879 to 1884, was unbeatable over the quarter-mile run, a successive series of six titles. There is only one athlete in either track or field events who has shown a longer string of con secutive wins, and that is the late J. S. Mitchell, with a string of nine straight years as champion. From 1889 until 1896, without a break, he won the hammer title, and in 1897 won the 56-pound weight.

To get back to Joie Ray's great performance, it is a remarkable piece of work in these days of specialists to find a man year in and year out able to keep in shape for six straight years and be good enough to win a United States title on the track in the face of the great milers who have been produced. Longevity of competitive life is conceded to big weight men who improve with age, but track events as a general run "burn a man out" in quick order. During his reign as champion, Ray twice has broken the A. A. U. championship record for the mile, though he has never been quite able to equal or break the world mark of 4:12 3-5, held by Norman Taber.

When Ray first appeared as a miler, the record was held (championship record) by the famous Abel Kiviat at 4:18 3-5. In 1917, his third year as mile champion, Ray went after the record and succeeded in taking a fifth of a second off of it, and then in 1919 he set the present championship standard of 4:14 2-5. Another notable fact in connection with Ray's performances is that in the seven years he has won the mile title, he has run 4:20 or better six times in this championship series, and Ray is the only man in the world who shows such remarkable consistency in the mile title race. No English miler, and they are conceded the greatest milers in the world, has ever shown such a string of annual championships in the one event run in the same phenomenal times that Ray has established.

The WORLD OVER

By Franklin B. Morse

When it is taken into consideration that Helen wills, the little California tennis expert, is only 17 years old, the possibilities for her future loom majestic. Few girls have arrived at her distinction in sport at her age and when she acquires more strength and experience there is no telling what she may be three years hence. Here is a genuine possibility for a super-woman of the tennis court.

How quickly a champion in any line of sport fades from the public view immediately after the loss of his title is well exemplified in the case of Willie Hoppe of balkline billiard fame. Up to the time of his defeat, there were few days when his name did not appear on the sport pages in some part of the country. All sorts of special stories, illustrated, were written about his methods of keeping in trim, whah he did to keep his eye true, and sage words of advice to the young were quoted. In months the only mention of him has been a small item tucked away in the corner of a page stating that Hoppe was going to open up a billiard parlor.

If you're ashamed of your position you should be ashamed of yourself.

CENTRAL LEAGUE'S FOOTBALL GAMES NOW ARRANGED

Glendale High School Teams Prepare for Action; New Rules Decided Upon

Football schedules for both the heavyweight and lightweight teams were made out in South Pasadena high school at the official meeting of officials of the Central Athletic league.

Six nearby high schools are included in this league. Besides Glendale, they are South Pasadena, Monrovia, Alhambra, Covina and Citrus.

Normal C. Hayhurst, head of the boys' department of physical educaton at teh local high school was re-elected secretary and treasurer of the league. "Bill" Feeler, coach of Monrovia high school, was elected football manager. Ben S. Millikan, principal of Covina high school, was elected president and will represent the league in the California Interscholastic federation. The meeting was attended also by George U. Moyse, principal of Glendale Union high school.

Comes In Bottles

The gridiron sponge has been barred from the field by official decision. Instead "candy butchers" will bring aqua pura to the players in pink milk bottles. This action was decided upon at the close of the football season last year.

A change has been made in the qualifications for the lightweight team. Instead of having weight as the only basis for qualification, grade, age and height will be taken into consideration, also.

This will eliminate the necessity of certain boys starving themselves in order to bring their weight down low enough so that they can make the team. Although the new arrangement is somewhat complicated, league officials call attention to the fact that the new basis is more scientific. They believe that it will work satisfactorily.

Bright Prospects

According to Coach Hayhurst, prospects are bright this year for at least one victorious football team at Glendale Union high school. Although the teams will not be selected for several teams, many of the players are reported to be in excellent condition and there is much enthusiasm on the field.

The first scrimmage of the season is scheduled for Friday afternoon when both light weight and heavyweight teams from San Fernando will journey to Glendale for a little practice.

Santa Barbara has requested a local team to come there Saturday, September 30, but the invitation has not been accepted yet.

Only two heavyweight league games will be played on the local gridiron. Glendale will play South Pasadena on October 27, and Alhambra on November 17. In the lightweight schedule three games will be played on the local field. Glendale will play Covina on October 17. Citrus on October 31 and Monrovia on November 6.

The first league game of the season will be October 17 when Covina and Glendale lightweight teams will clash on the local gridiron. The first regular team game of the season will be October 17 when Covina and Glendale lightweight teams will clash on the local gridiron. The first regular team game of the season will be held three days later when a local squad will journey to Covina.

First Team Schedule

The heavyweight schedule is as follows:

October 20—South Pasadena at Alhambra, Glendale at Covina, Citrus at Monrovia.

October 27—South Pasadena at Glendale, Monrovia at Covina, Citrus at Alhambra.

November 3—Alhambra at Monrovia, Covina at South Pasadena, Glendale at Citrus.

November 10—Glendale at Monrovia, Covina at Alhambra, South Pasadena at Citrus.

November 17—Alhambra at Glendale, Covina at Citrus, Monrovia at South Pasadena.

Second Team Schedule

The schedule for the second team is as follows:

October 17—Alhambra at South Pasadena, Covina at Glendale, Monrovia at Citrus.

October 24—Glendale at South Pasadena, Covina at Monrovia, Alhambra at Citrus.

October 31—Monrovia at Alhambra, South Pasadena at Covina, Citrus at Glendale.

November 6—Monrovia at Glendale, Alhambra at Covina, Citrus at South Pasadena.

November 13—Glendale at Alhambra, Citrus at Covina, South Pasadena at Monrovia.

DELL HURLS FIRST NO-HIT GAME OF COAST SEASON

Vernon's Pitcher Only Issues Couple of Passes; League Leaders Beat L. A.

"Wheezer" Dell, who has been one of Vernon's leading pitchers for the past three seasons, yesterday achieved the highest success that he could desire when he let ivan Howard's Oakland baseball team down without garnering a single safe wallop. It was the first no-hit, no-run contest of the year in the Pacific coast league. Dell's only flaws being a couple of passes issued after two were out in the fifth and sixth innings, respectively. Neither of the pair who received passes were able to reach second base, however, the next batters being easy outs. Dell's support was of A1 variety, although it cannot be said that any of the fielders robbed the Oakland batters of hits by spectacular work in the field. It was a real no-hit affair and Dell was given a tremendous ovation following the game.

League Leaders Win

In spite of Dell's unusual feat in beating the Oaks his team was unable to gain a single peg on the fast traveling San Francisco league leaders, who were trouncing Wade Killefer's Los Angeles crew for the second time in as many days. The score of the northern game was 3 to 0, Pitcher George Lyons having one bad inning—the seventh—when the Seals scored all of their runs on three hits and an error. Both Lyons and Oliver Mitchell pitched sterling games, each allowing but six hits. Prior to the seventh round but two San Francisco runners had reached first base in safety. Although the Bay City won the game it was probably a contest that will prove most disastrous to the squad's pennant chances within the next few weeks. Rhyne and Kilduff, short-stop and second baseman de luxe who form 'Frisco's celebrated keystone combination, were both put on the injured list by being hit on the elbow with fast inshoots from the Los Angeles hurler. It is thought that neither will be able to appear in the line-up for several days and probably a week.

Livernash Head Coach

Leo Livernash, former backfield star of the University of Southern California football team and who will appear in a couple of weeks in the alumni-varsity game at the Trojans' field, yesterday began his duties at Lincoln High school, Los Angeles, where he has been engaged as head coach of the lightweight tanbark aggregation. Since graduation from the Cardinal and Gold institution several years ago Livernash has coached the football teams of Santa Maria, Franklin and Van Nuys High schools.

Races at Tia Juana

The annual fall racing season of the Tia Juana racing association will be opened on November 30, according to an announcement received yesterday from officials of the border city's race executives. As usual, the meet will last 100 days, with a possible chance of an extension of the time limit. Reports of the recent Tia Juana seasons have reached the eastern racing sections during the past few months that the coming meet is looked forward to as a record-breaker as far as the class of entries is concerned. Stables from horse breeding centers in Kentucky, New York, Maryland and Canada are to be represented throughout the season.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

I, I, I: I, MYSELF; I
THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXVII
My Bottle

As I told you last week most doctors believe in giving us babies one bottle a day is very wise. Still there are some doctors who don't believe so, and you Mamas had better see your own baby doctor about this. With a very few Mamas, the interruption of the regular feeding may lessen the milk supply. This does not happen very often though.

In case it should happen with my Mama, she will stop the bottle quick as your eye could snap. Another thing she could do, of course, would be to express the milk from her breast at the period she would have nursed me otherwise.

I told you that I had one ounce of milk and two ounces of water and that Mama was going to increase the milk one-quarter of an ounce a day until I got half milk and half water. If I had all bottle feedings, she would not increase the proportion so rapidly as this but one-quarter of an ounce every third or fourth day.

I will have no sugar in my mixture until I am thoroughly used to the new milk; then Mama will put in one-quarter of a level teaspoonful of sugar for two days. She will increase it one quarter of a teaspoonful every three days until I am having a level teaspoonful in the mixture. This is not to make it sweet for me but because it adds to the food value.

Mama will use ordinary granulated sugar because I am strong and healthy and will be able to digest it; but if I had a weak digestion, or if I were not so strong, she would use malt sugar.

My feeding is prepared in this way. Mama takes a little more than the amount of water that the mixture requires and boils it thoroughly; then she adds the milk which is taken from the bottle well shaken so the cream is well mixed in it, and she boils that with the water for two or three minutes, stirring it constantly so that no scum will form on it. This boiling is done to make the milk more easily digested and Mama will stop doing this after two or three weeks when I am used to it. Of course, we are getting the best certified milk which means there will be no danger of my getting tuberculosis or any other disease from the milk.

Good pasteurized milk is a safe milk also for babies, but if we are fed pasteurized or boiled milk for any length of time we should have some orange juice or tomato juice, canned or fresh, beginning with one teaspoonful of the juice with two teaspoonfuls of water and gradually increased until we are getting one ounce of the juice a day. That would supply the vitamins that would be lost by the boiling or the pasteurization of the milk.

While it is not so necessary for us breast-fed babies to have the orange juice or the tomato juice, still it is good for us to have it, remembering always to begin very gradually with it and to give it between two feedings.

While I am having just one bottle a day, Mama realizes it is just as important to have everything sterilized and clean as it would be if I were getting all of my feedings from the bottle. As soon as I have finished my feeding, my bottle is scrubbed with a bottle brush with soap and hot water and then rinsed well with hot water. Then some hot water is poured into the bottle with a teaspoonful of borax and shaken well until the borax is dissolved. It is then filled brimming full of water and stands with this strong solution of borax in it, until the next day when my feeding is made up. The borax solution is then poured out and the bottle is rinsed carefully.

With this method of cleaning it is not necessary to boil it every day, but every two or three days it is boiled also. Mama got some nipples of black rubber, as that seems to be the best rubber. She boiled the one I am going to use first. As soon as I have my feeding, the nipple is cleaned about the same way the bottle is. Some borax is put in it and it is held under the faucet and rubbed between the thumbs and fingers. It is then placed in a cup of water, containing one heaping teaspoonful of borax. It is not necessary to boil them every day if they are cleaned in this manner, for that soon softens them.

As this subject is so very important, I shall tell you more about it next week. Au revoir, my dears.

STAR SISTER TRIO OF SCREEN

They are: Viola Dana, Edna Flugrath and Shirley Mason, reading from left to right, and they were reunited when sister Edna arrived recently at Hollywood. Viola Dana and Shirley Mason, to use their screen names, have long been stars of the first water, in American-made films. But Edna is the only one of the three to carry the family name into the English productions, and came to America for a short visit with her mother and sisters.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

THE DIVORCEE'S FIRST QUARREL

In the paper the other day I read of a woman whose husband let her divorce him because she was in love with another man. On closer acquaintance, she made the astonishing discovery that the other man wasn't half the man her husband was, and that she had made a terrible mess of her life. "An hour after I got my divorce," she said, "I regretted it."

Of course that was pretty quick work.

I don't imagine many divorcees make that discovery quite so soon.

Just As Bad Faults

But wouldn't you like to have a dollar for every person who gets a divorce to marry someone else and who makes the discovery, in the course of time, that someone else has faults as bad, though perhaps in different lines, as the partner from whom he or she has just parted?

I imagine those dollars would roll up into a sizable fortune in the course of a few years.

Of course, the discovery that one's partner is not the marvelously understanding, invariably sweet tempered, always adoring person whom he or she has appeared during courtship is not confined to second marriages. But it seems to me it must be a far more painful, more depressing disillusionment when it comes as the anti-climax to an eternal triangle divorce.

That Terrible Moment

One has said to oneself presumably: "This love that I feel is something different from any ordinary love. It is so unique, so wonderful that it is worth sacrificing conventions, worth going through the wretchedness of a divorce suit, worth making one and perhaps two innocent parties miserable, to gratify it."

And then there comes a day when things go wrong, you twain quarrel and for a moment dislike takes the place of that love. What a dreadful descent! And what terrible questions at once raise their head. "Was it really worth while?" "Was I simply fooled by an infatuation into going through all this?" "Have I made a wicked mistake?"

Better Turn Back

If any man or woman who is thinking of taking this path would look ahead and picture the first quarrel, imagine the other party saying: "I can see now why you didn't find it easy to get along with your wife" or "I don't wonder your husband didn't understand you. I don't see how anyone could." I think a great many would draw back from the sharp turn and decide to try the old road a bit longer.

And, perhaps, if they kept on and climbed the hill, and struggled through the hard going that putting the excitement of such a love affair behind one inevitably means, they would find the road pleasanter and sweeter than it had ever been before.

I know more than one case where just that has happened.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

FACIAL MAS SAGE NO. 1

Frowning wrinkles may be eliminated, but the habit of frowning must first be broken. Granted that you have formed this bad habit and have discovered how many years it has added to your countenance, you will then be more concerned about the habit than the lines—for the lines may be smoothed out and the tissues under them built up again, but if you continue to form these lines the building up will do very little toward eradicating them.

So we will begin to correct the habit first. Like all other habits, it is an unconscious act and if you have already decided against it, it will only need a reminder each time you forget. An effective reminder in such cases is a piece of court plaster, which is spread over the skin after the lines have been smoothed out. This is a relentless little master, for every time you forget and begin to pucker up the brow, it will tug away at the skin in proportion to your own offense. If you are in earnest, you will be grateful for the tug and a few days should cure you.

Having ridded yourself of the cause for the lines, the next thing is to correct the damages. First apply hot water towels to the brow to cleanse and soften the skin and thus prepare it for the coming massage. After the pores have been opened well, begin by applying a small quantity of pure almond or olive oil or a nourishing cream that is made from vegetable oils. Then proceed to massage the forehead and temples, moving the hands always from the center of the forehead over the top of the nose, toward the upper part of the temple; never move the hands downward or from the temples inward. In forehead massage, first make the straight movement and then follow up with a series of spiral movements. After finishing the forehead, give the temples a little special circular massage with the spiral movements. End the treatment by removing any cream that has not been absorbed, and close the pores by dashing cold water over the brow or by rubbing over it a small piece of ice.

Frowning wrinkles can be eliminated

F. M. S.—Very young girls like yourself are often alarmed because they think the bust is overdeveloped for their other proportions, but this is merely due to an unevenness of growth, and will correct itself after a few more years.

Tomorrow—The Proper Choice in Caps.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Canadians Getting Record Wood Price

RICHMOND, Quebec—Farmers having wood lots are enjoying unexpected prosperity these days, due to the coal shortage caused by the long coal strike in the American anthracite and bituminous fields. Price of cord wood, cut into four-foot lengths, have gone up $3 per cord, and farmers are finding trouble getting sufficient help to supply the demand. The old price was $8 per cord, which, according to many producers, showed a fair profit.

It is reported that residents of Montreal and other Canadian cities, fearing inability to get coal to keep warm during the severe Canadian winter, are laying in large supplies of the fuel.

Book Reviews

James Oliver Curwood was born in Michigan in 1879, and earned the money spent on his education at the University of Michigan trapping wild animals. Since his college career, he has gained his knowledge of mankind through newspaper experience; and of the wild creatures and nature through his expeditions in the north. Such titles as "The Wolf Hunters," "Nomads of the North," "The Honor of the Big Snows," "The Grizzly King, "The Great Lakes," "The Golden Snare," "The Flower of the North," "The Danger Trail," "The Courage of Marg O'Doon and God's Country," "The Trail of Happiness," are characteristic of a nature like the stories they represent—robust, courageous, adventurous, nature-loving, and always on the square.

Since his famous trilogy of the three-river country, including "The Flaming Forest," "The Valley of Silent Men," and "River's End" (stories which have grown to make him world famous), Mr. Curwood is writing better than ever. "The Country Beyond" is his twenty-second full-length novel of rugged adventure in the north country. To this, his latest book, he has added many a modern touch.

"A glass of wine once lost a kingdom" (quoting from the subtitle on the fly-leaf); "a nail turned the tide of a mighty battle," and "a woman's smile, once upon a time, destroyed the homes of a million people." "Thus have trivial things played their potent parts in the history of of human lives; yet these things Peter did not know," being an Airedale pup with hound's legs to give him the name of "a cur." Yet his intelligence and bravery were such as to make him the medium for Nada's and Jolly Roger's romance. Cruelty as the result of "bootleg," made of Peter a dog before his puppy-time was up, and storm, crime, Indian camps and outlaws, with the wild things of the wood continually affording excitement and interest for man and dog, a happy ending to Jolly Roger's love-story is foreshadowed, and woven as it is from the wilds where even the squaws are virtuous.

Love labor, if you do not want it for food you may for physic. It is wholesome for the body and good for the mind.

CHAPTER XXV.

The Web of Circumstance

For a few days there was no more overtime to be earned by Cleek or Dollops, so that they were free to spend their evening as they wished, and though the "Pig and Whistle" got its fair share of their time—for the sake of appearances—there were long hours afterward, between the last tattered remnants of the night and the day's dawning, when they did a vast amount of exploration.

That they made good use of this time was proved by the little note-book that rested in Cleek's pocket, and in which a rough chart of the country and the docks was drawn—though there were still some blanks to be filled in—while opposite it was a rude outline of the secret passage into which they had blundered three nights before.

"Got to explore that hole from end to end, Dollops," said Cleek on the fourth evening, as they struck off together toward that gap in the hedge, soon after the clock in the village had chimed out ten, and the little bar of the "Pig and Whistle" was slowly emptying itself of its habitues, "I have the main route fairly correct, I think, and a rough idea of where those sacks stood, and where we took to cover when Black Whiskers was showing the master of this underworld domain through it. Happen to have learnt the chap's name yet?"

Dollops nodded.

"Yessir. Brent it is, Jonathan Brent; or so one of the men tells me. Says he's never seed 'im, though; nobody 'ardly ever does, from all accounts 'e give me. Ole Black Whiskers and our silent-footed friend Borkins is the main boss wot does 'is work for 'im."

"H'm. Well, that's something gleaned, anyway. Of course we may be able to find out who he really is, but the chances are small. Men like this chap don't go giving away anything more than they can help. They lie low and let their paid underlings stand the racket if it happens to come along. I know the type. We've come cross it before. Well, here we are. Now for it—but it is time I happen to have brought along a revolver."

He crept through the hedge and crouching behind it ran to the spot where they had found the open trap-door upon that memorable occasion three nights before. There was nothing to be seen. The ground presented an absolutely unbroken appearance, so far as they could make out in the moon's rays.

"Clever devils!" snapped out Cleek, in angry tribute. "We'll have to use artificial light after all; but keep your torch light on the ground. It won't do for any one to spot us just now."

For perhaps a moment or two they explored the ground inch by inch, crawling round in the long grass upon their hands and knees, until a little tuft of brown earth sticking up through a piece of turf, like the upturned corner of a rug, showed them what they were looking for. With infinite care Cleek lifted up the square of turf and set it upon one side. The sight of the flat dark surface of the trap door rewarded them. He ran his fingers along the two sides of it, and discovered a bolt, and then catching the iron ring once more in his hands, swung the top upward and laid it back upon the grass.

A minute more found them once more in the cavernous, breathless depths. Cleek handed the torch to Dollops.

"You hold that while I do a bit of sketching," he said, fidgeting in his coat pocket for his fountain pen. He then snapped open the flap of the note book and began to sketch rapidly as they moved forward. Cleek was an adept in drawing to scale. The thing took shape as they continued their progress, keeping this time to the left instead of to the right. Cleek paced off the distance and stopped every now and then to check up results.

The place was as silent as the grave. Obviously no one was about here upon these nights when there was no unloading going on. In that, at least, chance had been a good friend to them. They were going to make the most of it. Through little runways, narrower than the main route, and so low that they had to bend their necks to get along in safety, they went, measuring and examining. Every few yards or so they would come upon another little niche, stacked high with sacks of a similar hardness to those others back there at the beginning of the journey. Cleek prodded one with his finger, hesitated, then slipping out a penknife, slit a fragment of the coarse sacking and inserted his thumb. . . .

He pulled it out with a look of astonishment upon his face.

"Hello, hello!" he exclaimed. "So that's it, is it? Gad! This is the approved hiding place! Then those tubings—Dollops, just a little more of this wearisome search, just a few more telephone calls to be made, and I believe I shall have untied at least one part of this strange riddle. And when that knot is unfastened, it will surely lead me to the rest. . . . . Go, on boy."

They went on, stepping carefully, and hesitating now and again to listen for any sound of alien footsteps. But the place might have been the grave for any sign of human habitation that there was. They had it to themselves that night, and made the most of it.

For some time they walked on, taking the road that most appealed to them, and in the maze must surely have retraced their own footsteps. Of a sudden, however, they broke into a sort of rough stone passage, with concrete floor that ran on for a few yards and ended at a flight of well-made stone steps, above which was a square of polished oak, worm-eaten, heavily-carved, and surely not of this generation's make or structure.

"Now, what the dickens . . . ?" began Cleek, and stopped.

Dollops surveyed it with his head on one side.

"Seems ter me, sir," he began, after a pause, "that this yere's the genuyne article. "One of them old passages what people like King Charles and Bloody Mary an' a few other of them celebrities you sees at Madame Tussord's any day in the week, used to 'ide in when things were a-gettin' too 'ot fer 'em. That's what this is."

If there is any one quality of the mind in which the really great have conspired, as it were, to surpass other men, it is moral courage.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND NOODLES NUBBINS

"Mother, may I go over and see Uncle Wiggily?" asked Noodle Flat Tail, the beaver boy, one day.

"Why do you want to go?" asked Mrs. Flat Tail, as she spread a slice of aspen bark bread with willow jam for Noodle to eat.

"Well, yesterday Uncle Wiggily made a fine tooter for Toodle," said Noodle. "And I thought maybe if I went over to see him now he might make something for me."

"I'm afraid you'll bother Uncle Wiggily," said the beaver lady.

"Oh, no, I promise you I won't," exclaimed Noodle. "If he's busy I'll come right home."

"All right, then, you may go," agreed Mrs. Flat Tail.

Over the fields and through the woods ran Noodle, and soon he came to the hollow stump bungalow of the bunny gentleman. Uncle Wiggily was asleep in his easy chair out on the porch.

"All he is doing," said Noodle to himself, "is twinkling his pink nose. I don't believe he'll think I'm a bother. Oo-hoo! Uncle Wiggily!" called the beaver boy.

"Eh? What's that!. Does some one want me?" asked the bunny gentleman, suddenly opening his eyes.

"I just wanted to know if you would make me something, as you did for my brother Toodle?" spoke Noodle.

"Hum! Well, perhaps I might," agreed the bunny gentleman. "What would you like, Noodle?"

"Well—er—I don't just know," answered the beaver boy. "I'd like something to have a good time."

"Suppose you come walking with me," suggested Uncle Wiggily. "I am going to look for an adventure, and we may find some thing for you on the way."

"Oh, what fun it will be!" laughed Noodle, and he took hold of Uncle Wiggily's paw. Over the fields, through the woods and over another field went the rabbit uncle and the beaver boy. The second field they reached was where a farmer had been growing corn. The corn had been cut and was stacked in the field, ready to be hauled into the barn, for the husking was over.

"Oh, look what I've found!" suddenly cried Noodle, as he picked up something from the ground near one of the corn shocks. "And here's another—oh, lots of them," he said.

"They are nubbins," explained Uncle Wiggily.

"What are nubbins?" Noodle wanted to know.

"Little, short, half-grown ears of corn that the farmer didn't bother to pick up," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Are they any good to have fun with?" Noodle wanted to know.

"Why, yes," said Uncle Wiggily. "We'll call these Noodle's nubbins, and we'll make a fire and parch them. Parched corn is very good, you know. The Indians used to eat it. We'll parch your corn nubbin, Noodle!"

The boy beaver thought this would be jolly fun, and soon he and Uncle Wiggily had made a fire in the corn field at a place where it would not burn any of the fodder piled in shocks, or stacks.

Noodle had gathered half a dozen of the nubbins, or short ears of yellow corn. The corn was now rather hard, too hard for boiling, but just about right for parching, or browning in a fire.

"Now you show me how to do it," begged Noodle of Uncle Wiggily.

"I will," said the bunny, and he did.

Soon the nubbins were toasting and roasting in the embers of the fire. The short ears of corn were placed on flat stones to roast.

"Oh, how good they smell!" cried Noodle as the corn began to parch.

"I'm glad I could find something for you," Uncle Wiggily answered with a twinkle of his pink nose.

Then, all of a sudden, when the nubbins were almost done, out from behind a corn shock sprang the Bushy Bear.

"Wuff! Wuff!" growled the Bushy Bear. "I smell something very good, and I think it's your ears," he said to Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bear.

"You are mistaken," spoke the bunny politely. "What you smell are roasting ears of corn—not my ears."

"Well, any ears will suit me!" growled the Bear. Reaching out his paw he picked up two of Noodle's nubbins—sizzling hot they are, those nubbins!

"Oh, wow!" howled the Bear. "I'm burned! I'm burned!" And dropping the nubbins, off he ran, not bothering Uncle Wiggily any more.

"What a foolish Bear!" laughed the bunny. "He should have waited until the hot nubbins cooled, Noodle. That's what we'll do."

And when the parched corn nubbins were cool, the bunny gentleman and the beaver boy ate them and had a fine time. And if the cow doesn't jump over the moon and spill the cream down the back of the rocking chair, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Nannie's secret.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

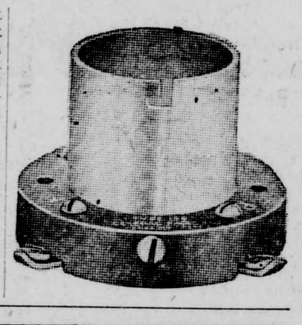
VACUUM TUBE SOCKETS

One of the most important things in any electrical equipment is that good contact is made. In vacuum tube work a good socket is absolutely essential. Pictured herewith is an adapter that embodies all the least points required in a socket.



The base is of heavy bakelite, providing adequate insulation. The springs are of bronze, nickel finish. They are so arranged as to make positive contact on the sides of the tube prongs. As a wiping spring contact is made, a clean, positive connection is assured.

STORAGE BATTERY CHARGING

In the preceding installment we discussed, but, owing to lack of space, did not fully cover the above subject.

It should be remembered, in charging lead cells, that it is necessary to allow two and one-half volts for each cell. If a smaller voltage than that which is to be reached by the cell is used, you would discharge instead of charge the cell. If the source of supply voltage is not sufficient to charge all your cells in series, they should be divided into groups, and these groups may be placed parallel to each other. If this arrangement is necessary, care must be taken that the negative lead from one bank of cells in series to the negative pole of the other bank, also in series, and from positive to positive terminals of each bank. Then the leads from the two banks thus joined will be led as described in the previous installment; that is, from the positive pole to the positive pole of the dynamo and negative to negative.

Another important precaution in charging should be carefully borne in mind. Never allow naked lights near a charging battery. Hydrogen is given off freely while charging, and, emerging from the cell at a critical point of mixing with the air, is highly inflammable. The writer knows of several very painful accidents that have occurred owing to disregard of this precaution. This occurs, generally, through operators peering into the cell to ascertain if it is gassing, using a lighted match to assist them.

A cell, when nearing the completion of a charge, will gas very freely, and is one aid to ascertaining when the charge is complete.

Marcel Wave Makes Inventor Millions

PARIS—Marcel, the hairdresser, who created the "wave" known by his name to every woman, is going to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his invention just as there are anniversaries of poets, scientists and statesmen.

Marcel started his life as a rather different sort of artist. His father was a stonecutter and tried to get his son to follow in the parental footsteps, but young Marcel dreamed of dressing court ladies' hair.

Marcel made his million, and then suddenly closed shop—twenty-five years ago. He started to Italy, but stopped outside of Paris and bought a chateau, where he is still living.

SHOPMEN TO RESUME

They Say That

Life and love are the two great subjects of constant interest to the human race.

For instance, note the attention given in the news dispatches to the opening of Hammonton, N. J., recently of the Court of Love, where lonesome swains are to be comforted in short order with life partners, and yearning women are to find their heart's content while they wait.

So expeditious was the work of the court officials that ere night had come the gates of matrimony had opened on ten hitherto desolate souls and all the joys connected therewith provided them.

For those who find such mating satisfactory, it is probably all right; and some folks are easily satisfied.

But it is not likely that love courts will ever take the place of love courtings, or juries sitting in the broad light of day passing on the matrimonial points of the petitioners eliminate the whispered word, the tender touch, the half-shy look, the faintest memories of which still make the heart beat a little faster.

Nor is it likely that matter-of-fact marriages will commend themselves except as the last resort to a race so emphatically and completely romantic as the human has shown itself to be.

There have been great loves and great lovers—Helen in Troy, Cleopatra in Alexandria, Romeo and Juliet, Abelarde and Heloise.

But even the most insignificant flapper cherishes a dream that some of the fragrance which was theirs in so great a measure may come to brighten her life and give her the thrill that nothing else can bring.

And lovers' lanes will be popular resorts long after Lovers' Courts are deserted.

Though it have the most skillful press agent, it is no competitor with Mother Nature.

So let those who must, resort to Lovers' Courts.

But it is a poor substitute for the real thing, and smacks too loudly of the matrimonial bureau to make more than a passing news story, a novelty which is here today and gone tomorrow.

BUSINESS STEADY DESPITE TROUBLE, REPORT SHOWS

Various Serious Obstacles Do Not Slow Up Progress, States U. S. Bureau

By U. S. Press Association

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—No clearer demonstration could be asked to indicate the soundness of the fundamental conditions underlying the present business revival than the persistence with which commerce and industry have progressed in the face of recent serious obstacles, says a statement from the department of commerce. The extremely serious labor difficulties through which we are now passing would, under many conditions, have completely demoralized business. Instead, real progress continues to be made. There is reason to suppose that the economic losses occasioned by the coal and railroad strike will make themselves felt for some months to come. Disturbances of this character affecting basic industries cannot take place without having to be paid for in the long run. It is possible that the full force of these losses will be felt severely in future months.

Figures now available on business movements during July show that the rate of progress was materially slackened in that month. In the majority of industries, production and sales were less than in June. A part of this is to be attributed to the usual midsummer seasonal slump and a part either to approaching over-production or to increased prices and increased production costs.

The extent of the real progress of industry on the road back to normal is seen when current figures are compared with those for a year ago. In almost every instance production is on a much higher level than in 1921. Perhaps the most favorable feature of the present situation is the prospect for a bountiful harvest this fall. This will do much to offset the other less favorable factors.

Rubber Industry

Census reports show that in 1914, tires were the chief product of the rubber industry, the output of this class being valued in 1919 at $752,926,708 or 66.1 per cent of the total value of production for the industry, as compared with $146,421,569, or 48.6 per cent in 1914. The second most important branch of the industry, rubber boots and shoes, had an output in 1919 of $90,779,829, or 8 per cent of the total value of products for the industry, as compared with $50,506,156, or 16.8 per cent, in 1914. The value of belting and hose produced in 1919 totaled $49,434,534, or 4.3 per cent of the total value of products, as compared with a value of $24,843,098, or 8.2 per cent, in 1914.

What the World Wants

Among the inquiries received from foreign buyers by the United States department of commerce during the week, requests for food products and textiles predominate. South Africa leads among the countries represented with the Scandanavian countries more prominent than heretofore.

Czechoslovakia presents two specific requests for motion picture apparatus and films, and Jamaica wants amusement park equipment, such as carrousel, etc. A merchant in China wishes to import toilet preparations, and a firm in South Africa is in the market for radio apparatus. Some of the other countries want: Canada, cotton fabrics, hosiery, silk; England, fruits, California canned and evaporated, lumber; France, fish, preserved fruit, dried and canned prunes, vegetables, canned; India, copper, brass and aluminum sheets, circles, etc.; Spain, autos and accessories, motorcycles, sporting goods; Sweden, carpets, engines and motors and linoleum; Germany, corned and boiled beef, drugs, crude, milk, condensed, rice, sugar.

Demand Is Growing for Frogs, Snails

LONDON—Englishmen are developing a taste for frogs and snails, and it is said that more snails and frogs are now eaten in the Cafe Parisien of the Savoy hotel here than in all the restaurants of Paris.

Chef Granjon of the Savoy receives every day 250 frogs and 200 snails from France, where they are caught in the vineyards and live on insects and grape leaves. The daily supply, which comes by airplane express, is about to be doubled, according to Jean Sovrani, manager of the Cafe Parisien in the hotel, who says the demand is growing, and only a day or so ago Sir Hall Caine, who has a taste for frogs, was disappointed to learn that the day's supply was long before exhausted.

A delicacy as fascinating as young quail—frogs and a little chablis—there, is nothing better was Sir Hall's description of Escargots Bouguignonne, as the dish is designated on the menu.

The Savoy manager has had difficulty in increasing his daily order for snails and frogs to keep pace with the demand in London, and it is declared that the Englishman and not the Frenchman is now the larger consumer of these delicacies.

THE IDEA!

Bridgeport, Conn., has a "love philosopher" who recommends making marriage harder, divorce easier; keeping wives out of business; men from marrying until 30, women until 25; and abolishing wedding and engagement rings because they are relics of chattel slavery.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Promoting Home Trade
Array of Local Talent
Tearing Up the Streets
Hitting High Spots

By Gil A. Cowan

"WHAT have you bought in Glendale today?

That is a question which every reader of The Glendale Evening News, every citizen, every home owner, every business man, should contemplate.

Business requires that a certain amount of goods be bought each day in order to maintain standard service, to maintain quality and to maintain economical prices.

Every business house should endeavor to buy all supplies possible in Glendale, thereby promoting home trade.

Every individual should give his or her unstinted support to local institutions.

It is not necessary to buy in Los Angeles or elsewhere when you find right here at home better bargains, equally as good selection in practically every line and more courteous service.

Here the merchants know you and cater to your trade. They endeavor to give you dollar for dollar—and sometimes more.

If you will read the advertisements in The Evening News tonight, or any night for that matter, you will find it to your advantage to trade at home.

Incidentally, there are several new stores opening here this week. Go in and get acquainted with their proprietors. Make them feel their efforts are appreciated.

You know there is a great deal of satisfaction in a friendly town, and certainly that is what Glendale boasts being.

Not only should you circulate your money in your own home town, but circulate around a bit yourself and see how the business men are getting along. Take an interest in the other fellow, folks. It will pay you big.

While discussing the "home town" there comes to mind the wonderful array of talent which is here to make its home.

It would be possible to organize an entire chautauqua program from the artists who have located in Glendale vicinity.

There are musicians galore, actors, world travelers, what not.

At the Rotary club yesterday noon an entire "Scotch show" was staged, and who doesn't enjoy a wee bit o' Scotch after dinner, provided it complies with the Eighteenth amendment.

From the number of Scots who are living in this community one would almost expect to find two or three hills of heather.

George T. Vallance of Eagle Rock, one of the entertainers, told something of interest to all who have heard the song, "A Wee Hoose Amang the Heather."

Sir Harry Lauder, who made the piece famous, is Mr. Vallance's brother-in-law. That "wee hoose" described in song is the home of the latter's parents.

No wonder he could sing the verses with feeling and carry his hearers back to bonnie Scotland.

It has been suggested that this column carry a thought on the subject of cutting up the streets.

That is a moot question, but certainly Glendale suffers from the ruthless destruction of hard-earned and well paid for pavements.

Not only are the streets dug up for gas and water mains, but it seems that overloaded trucks tear into the soft surface and make misery for the motoring public.

While it is impossible to provide malleable highways, it would seem only just and fair that each truck pay a special tax for the wear and tear and each motorist pay for the privilege of riding on smooth boulevards.

True, any remedial legislation will meet with opposition of powerful associations, paid to lobby against laws, but it is penny wise economy to assess the home owner time and again for that over which he has no control.

For one, I would gladly pay $50 motor license a year if it assured me smooth roads where a light, or a spring, or some thingamajig wouldn't have to be fixed after hitting the high spots such as are to be found on Glendale boulevard through Edendale.

BUILDING RECORDS PLACE THIS CITY CLOSE TO TOP

Glendale Continues to Stay In Fifth Position for the Month of August

Glendale continues to remain in fifth place in building activities among all the cities of California. Statistics, which have just been compiled for the month of August, show that Glendale's record of $393,484 is only exceeded by Los Angeles, San Diego, Pasadena and Long Beach, all of which have several times the population.

California is still "the white spot" of the industrial map. Figures from the country as a whole show August construction to be 46 per cent ahead of last year. California, however, shows a 60 per cent increase. Last month $17,000,000 was invested in new buildings, as compared with $11,000,000 for the same month last year.

Perhaps Glendale has no reason to feel unduly proud, however, for her record of $393,484 for last month was exceeded by $182,061 by her record of $576,545 for August, last year.

San Diego this August did over twice the building as last year. Pasadena also shows a large increase. Long Beach shows a slight decrease.

OLD-TIME RANCH RECALLED AGAIN

Remember When H. J. Crow Took School Kids Riding Behind Fine Team?

Glendale children of thirty years or more ago who walked each day from what is now the city of Glendale proper to the one school house at Tropico used to have as one of their "between school and home" playgrounds the "Crow orchard," which was the big ranch acreage owned at that time by Harry J. Crow.

Mr. Crow owned 200 acres west of Glendale avenue and south of Broadway, since known as the Lomita Park tract, but known thirty years ago by the picturesque name "Crow orchard."

On their journey to school in the morning it was the delight of any of the school children who might be passing the big ranch home to see Mr. Crow dash out in his buggy, drawn by two trim horses, and perhaps stop to give them a ride to school.

Gives Pupils Rides

Mr. Crow drove back and forth to Los Angeles every day and among the happy memories of those who attended the first school in Glendale is remembrance of the rides he gave them.

In the latter part of the year 1886 or beginning of 1887 Mr. Crow, B. F. Patterson, E. T. Byram, G. B. Woodbury and J. C. Sherer laid out the original boundaries of what is now the city of Glendale and among the contributions of land was 100 acres of "Crow orchard," given by the owner, H. J. Crow. He gave that portion lying south of Fourth street, now Broadway, as far as Crow avenue, now Lomita avenue.

When the map of the new city was made it bore the title, "Pasadena's Only Rival."

EMPLOYMENT IS AGAIN NORMAL OVER COUNTRY

Couple of Million Out of Work, but That's Usual, Says Labor Head

By J. E. JONES
Special to The Evening News

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—We have it from the authority of the secretary of labor of the United States that employment is again normal in this country. That does not mean that every man or every woman has a job, because, as we recall it, the statistical sharps have it figured out that there are always a couple of million people unemployed. They are people temporarily out of work from choice or necessity, and others who are jacks of all trades and are constantly shifting employment. When you add the loafers and the bums the total of two millions out of a population of more than one hundred million isn't so bad.

The secretary of labor has spoken "kind words," and it is heartening to know that we are again back to "normalcy" in the matter of employment since there were over five million unemployed last winter.

Hen Family Vacation

The Department of Agriculture has taken notice that the hens of the United States have taken a vacation and thrown the country back upon the necessity of eating into the 9,586,000 cases of storage eggs that wise commission men, speculators, etc., have laid by for the time when hens would not do the laying. In the olden days budding poets wrote lyrics and ballads in honor of the cow, but that was before the days of Borden, Van Camp, and the other milk canneries. Today the hen yields one of the greatest of necessities that goes onto the American breakfast table. It is, therefore, a matter of public concern that the quality of her product is may lie entirely with the bird herself. The Agricultural Department threatened, even though the fault ment observes that "Mrs. Hen has broken down completely under the excessive heat of hot weather and has gone vacationing." It is lamentable, but the Hen should be excused under all the circumstances. She may have been imitating humankind—and that latter breed has certainly worked the vacation period overtime this summer.

Adjournment of Congress

During recent years the multiplying problems that face Congress make it necessary that both legislative bodies remain in almost continuous session. A quarter of a century ago a Senator or Representative found that the public business could be carried through in six months for the "long session" and three months for the "short session." In other words Congress was in session nine months out of two years. This has been lengthened out to about twenty months out of two years. Even at that there is always a lot of important matter shoved over for a later day that should come up at times like the present when the fall elections are at hand.

The great problem of the present Congress has concerned the tariff. The old theory of protection to infant industries and the regulating of competition by means of the tariff has been replaced by new conditions. In consequence of the necessity of applying new methods, or new principles, to the determination of most matters in connection with the framing of the tariff bill, it has taken more than a year and a half to frame the new law.

The champions of the idea that the tariff is wholly an economic question and should be largely divorced from the political methods which dominate tariff-making are just now enjoying themselves, and they claim that the history of the past year and a half has proved that the tariff should be left almost entirely in the hands of a commission, made up of experts who are free from political obligations.

What 'Elastic' Means

The persistence with which members of both branches of Congress fought for an "elastic" tariff was a confession that it is quite impossible under the changed order of things to make a taiff law that will apply in exactly proportionate terms this year, and next year and the year after. An "elastic" tariff means that the president shall be given power without special action by Congress to move schedules up or down to meet changing conditions.

The adjournment of Congress finds the merchant marine legislation deferred. The President and the shipping board are solidly behind this proposition which proposes a ship subsidy of about a million dollars a week and the retirement of the government from the business of operating ships. This means that the entire government business would be sold. In this connection a sale has just been announced by which all of the war-built wooden ships, costing the government $300,000,000, have been sold to Lent & Humphrey of San Francisco for $750,000. There are 226 ships. The government deficit on ship operations is now practically a million dollars a week. The proposal of the shipping board is to get rid of the ships but to keep the deficit, with the difference that the great sums will be paid to private companies who are expected to operate these vessels with profit to themselves and with honor to their country.

REVOLVING CLOCK DIAL

Instead of an hour hand a new clock carries a revolving dial which indicates the time in all parts of the world in relation to any standard time in this country.

NIGHT SCHOOL TO SHOW INCREASE, NOW BELIEF

Announce Courses and Time on Saturday, Says A. L. Ferguson

Night school is expected to prove an even greater success this year than last, according to the opinion at Glendale Union High school.

"From the number of inquiries as to the time of opening the night school there will be a record breaking enrollment and attendance in the evening school this year," remarked Principal A. L. Ferguson this morning.

"The work of last year was so successful and the courses offered of such wide scope that during all of this week the telephone at the high school has been kept busy answering inquiries concerning the work for the coming year," he continued.

"At a meeting of the board of education all of the courses offered last year were decided on favorably and they will be offered again this year. As far as possible new courses will be offered. These courses will depend upon the number asking for them and the ability to furnish equipment and teachers to supply the demand.

Announcement Saturday

"A complete announcement of the courses and the time and meeting place of the classes as well as the method of registration will be made on Saturday. Watch for the announcement and follow closely the plan laid out for the enrollment.

"The total enrollment last year was 667, divided about equally between men and women. The following is a list of the total enrollment for the different classes. Men's gymnasium 110, women's gymnasium, 106, Spanish ninety, typing sixty-eight, English fifty-eight, millinery, fifty-nine, bookkeeping fifty, mechanical drawing forty-seven, woodwork forty-three, shorthand forty-five, arithmetic forty-one, penmanship thirty-three, auto shop twenty-eight, machine shop twenty.

"A great many were enrolled last year in the commercial work with the idea of improving their ability in these lines. The shorthand courses were unusually large as well as the typewriting. Bookkeeping and penmanship ran to capacity all through the year. The mechanical lines of work, including machine shop, auto shop, woodwork and carpentry, and mechanical drawing taxed the capacity of the equipment all through the year and will again be offered. As is shown by the number enrolled, the gymnasium courses were extremely popular. There is a growing demand for a period of relaxation and the central location of the school plant made the gymnasium one of the popular places at all times.

Spanish Proves Popular

"Spanish is another of the courses that were not offered until after the school was under way but even then they proved to be very popular and will be offered under the direction of Mr. Brockway again this year. Last year it was necessary to have the advanced class meet at an earlier hour than other classes in order to accommodate Mr. Brockway, who had charge of the class but this year conditions have adjusted themselves so that the work can come at the regular time.

"In the men's gumnasium work there were two classes, the young men's class in which there were organized several basket ball teams. The regular team representing the evening school entered the A. A. U. tournament last year and finished the season for third place in the play-offs of the Southern California A. A. U. series. It is expected that there will be an even more successful season this year and with as many as six different teams last year there should be as many or more this season and it is planned to have a regular home tournament and arrangements are under way to provide outside competition with other organizations in different towns to provide outside competition. The excellent floor and adequate showers are a great inducement to enter into this great indoor game. The business men did not go into such strenuous sport but were taken up with volley ball and indoor baseball. Outside competition will be provided for these classes after they get into good practice.

Women's Gymnasium

"The women's gymnasium class was a great success. The demand for this work was fostered by the Business and Professional Women's Club and many of their members participated in the work, which was varied according to the demand. The course is open to all women who are interested in this line of exercise and indications are that there will be a larger class this year than last for the course was not offered until after school started last season but will be included from the beginning this year.

"A study of the statistics concerning last year's work shows some very interesting facts. From the financial side the result has been more than satisfactory. The amount paid out for teachers' salaries for the evening school amounted to $4156 and the amount apportioned by the state and county to the school this year based on the attendance of last year is $4900, showing a return of approximately $750 more than was expended for salaries. With this surplus applied to the extra amount of running expenses and materials the evening school would be paying its own expenses without the necessity of levying any district tax for the operation.

"This amount is based entirely on the average attendance which shows the popularity of the evening work, as well as care in the running of the classes so that the attendance in any of them did not fall low enough to cut down the average. This record is very exceptional for the first year. Many schools in their first year and even afterwards have trouble in keeping the attendance up to a point where the apportionment will meet expenses.

"In many of the classes it was found necessary to form a waiting list and in all probability this will be again necessary where the equipment is limited."

A sunny thought drives away the shadows.

METAL PLANE IS TO MOVE TROOPS

Will Be Used In Tropical Parts by British As Police Mediums

By F. A. WRAY
For International News Service.

LONDON—The Air Ministry is now experimenting with all-metal troop-carrying aeroplanes. These form the most important feature of the important all-metal trials now going on. They are designed for the transport of twenty-five fully equipped soldiers, with a machine gun and an adequate supply of ammunition.

Two of these machines are now being built at Weybridge. They have not yet been submitted to a complete series of experiments, and until this is done no large orders for their manufactur will be placed.

These machines are destined, primarily, for operation in tropical parts of the British Empire, where large areas have to be policed and where the chief danger lies in the sudden uprising of some isolated tribe.

To Try Craft

ders for their manufacture will be tried in Mesopotamia, where the Royal Air Force is to be given complete command and where it will have, for the first time, its own infantry and cavalry.

Troop-carriers, if successful, will do away with the necessity of forced marches to some outpost, often through very hot and arid country, where trouble is being caused or threatened by natives. It will thus be possible to deal with an outbreak in its early stages, as a force sufficient to quell an ordinary rising could be hurried to the spot, even if several hundred miles away, in a few hours.

The chief value of all-metal planes is that spare parts can be stored in tropical lands for an almost indefinite period without deterioration. Wooden parts are likely to warp in the heat.

Say Moonshine Gas Was In Jet; Fined

CINCINNATI—Bernard Schloemer, keeper of a Carlisle avenue cafe, had a new sort of gas jet in his saloon—one which attracted much attention and more custom.

"Look at the 'moonshine gas mantle,'" he would say with a wink and draw a drink of "white mule" from the jet. But he tapped it once too often. The prohibition officers got wise and instead of the cup that cheers Schloemer drew a $400 fine. The "gas" tank was torn out of the wall.

ESCAPED MONKEY SCARES CHICAGO

Runaway Finally Captured As Tail Gets Caught In Flaming Torch

CHICAGO—Chicago's business district in the famous "Loop" was thrown into a furore by a monkey.

After driving nearly a score of persons frantic, hurry calls were sent in for the police, reserves, firemen and militia.

'Twas thus that it happened:

A big monkey got loose and started to investigate the insides of business houses, making its entrances in wholly unconventional ways, mainly through windows and door transoms.

When it first got loose from its owner it scooted up Harrison street and got between the legs of a rotund gentleman. The rotund gentleman, perspiring and swearing profusely, arose from the pavement after the shock and called the police, being certain that a bomb had exploded.

Ear for Music

The monkey also apparently had an ear for music, for it next started after a music shop, making its entrance through the plate glass window. Exit customers, clerks. Then the monkey started to invcstigate the latest jazz records. Exit records—in many pieces.

And the crowd on the monkey's tail—er, trail—increased rapidly.

A score of printers were at work in a print shop. Enter Mr. Monkey, chattering amiably and vivaciously. Chaos.

Patients in the National School of Mechanical Dentistry. Enter monkey through the transom. Wreckage. Calls for police, fire department and militia. Monkey hopped on top of a work bench. Bunsen burner going full blast. Monkey's tail wound around it.

DECREASE IN COST OF FOOD COMES THROUGH U. S.

Practically Every City Shows Reduction, According to Government Reports

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States department of labor through the bureau of labor statistics, has completed the compilation showing changes in the retail cost of food in twenty-six respective cities of the United States.

During the month from July 15, 1922, to August 15, 1922, all but one of these cities showed a decrease as follows: Milwaukee and Springfield, Ill., 5 per cent; Indianapolis, Peoria, St. Louis and St. Paul, 4 per cent; Chicago, Kansas City, Manchester, Omaha and Philadelphia, 3 per cent; Baltimore, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Detroit, New Haven, New York, Providence, Rochester and Washington, D. C., 2 per cent; Dallas, Los Angeles, Portland, Me., and Richmond, 1 per cent, and Little Rock less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

For the year period, August 15, 1921, to August 15, 1922, the cost of food in these cities decreased as follows: Kansas City and Manchester, 14 per cent; Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Providence, 13 per cent; Bridgeport, Norfolk, St. Paul and Springfield, Ill., 12 per cent; Chicago, Detroit, Peoria, Philadelphia, Rochester and Washington, D. C., 11 per cent; Buffalo, New York, Portland, Me., and St. Louis, 10 per cent; Baltimore and New Haven, 9 per cent; Richmond, 8 per cent; Omaha, 7 per cent; Little Rock and Los Angeles, 6 per cent, and Dallas, 4 per cent.

As compared with the average cost in the year 1913, the retail cost of food on August 15, 1922, was 51 per cent higher in Richmond; 47 per cent in Washington, D. C., 44 per cent in Buffalo, Detroit and Providence; 43 per cent in Baltimore, Chicago and New York; 42 per cent in Dallas; 39 per cent in Manchester, Milwaukee, New Haven and St. Louis; 33 per cent in Kansas City and 36 per cent in Omaha; 37 per cent in Philadelphia; 36 per cent in Little Rock, and 32 per cent in Indianapolis and Los Angeles. Prices were not obtained from Bridgeport, Norfolk, Peoria, Portland, Me., Rochester and St. Paul and Springfield, Ill., in 1913. Hence no comparison for the nine-year period can be given for these cities.

Saved by Radio

More than 2000 hours of operating time, worth at a conservative estimate, $150,000, has been saved to navigating interests on the Great Lakes in a single season by means of the radio advices sent out from one of the smaller weather bureau stations on the lakes. Vessels are warned of approaching storms, when it is safe to proceed, what route to take to avoid heavy seas and adverse currents.

Lumber Cut Report

The department of commerce announces that the lumber cut of 710 large sawmills, according to census reports, showed a decrease of 578,102,000 feet, or 4.2 per cent for 1921, as compared with the cut of these same mills in 1919.

The statement, which was prepared in co-operation with the department of agriculture, forest service, covers most of the large mills reporting a total cut of 5,000,000 feet or more in either 1921 or 1919. The cut of these mills in 1919 represented 40 per cent of the total cut in the United States.

VALENTINO'S BRIDE SUDDENLY QUITS TRIP ABROAD

Rudolph Valentino Mrs. Hudnut Mrs. Valentino Richard Hudnut

Parting was such "sweet sadness" for Rodolph Valentino and his bride, Winifred Hudnut—for it really wasn't a parting at all. The sheik of the screen and Miss Hudnut are shown here as they were photographed aboard the White Star liner Olympic, just before that vessel sailed for Europe, in company with Miss Hudnut's foster parents, Richard Hudnut, millionaire perfumer, and Mrs. Hudnut. But before the gangplank was pulled in Miss Hudnut eluded her parents and slipped ashore and hastened to her New York hotel. She is said to be assisting her husband in his legal controversy with the screen corporation which employs him. The Valentino marriage in California was declared illegal because sufficient time had not elapsed since the granting of Valentino's interlocutory decree of divorce from his former wife.

A TRUE RAT STORY

Auburntown, 6-22-22.
Stearns Electric Paste Co.,
Dear Sirs: Mr. Robert T. Donnell of Auburntown, came in our store the other day and wanted something to kill rats, so I sold him a box Stearns Rat Paste. And he put some paste on six biscuits that night and the next morning he found fifty-four big rats. And the second night he put out four more biscuits with paste on them, and the second morning he found seventeen more rats, making a total of seventy-one rats in two nights, and there were lots more that he did not find.
This is some big rat tale, but, nevertheless, it is so. Just thought would write to let you know that your rat paste is good.
Respectfully, KENNEDY BROTHERS.

English People to Protest New Wars

LONDON, Sept. 22.—While the British continued their military preparations to defend the Turkish straits and allied representatives in Paris worked over details of the proposed peace conference, all England rose in protest today against a war in the Near East.

A labor delegation representing six million British trade unionists called upon Premier Lloyd George at 10 Downing street and asked the government not to engage in hostilities. It is headed by J. H. Thomas, representing the male workers, and Miss Mrgaret Bondfield, representing the women workers.

Thomas urged the withdrawal of British troops from Chanak, on Dardanelles, saying that "the British government has not the right to make war which is a matter of concern to all the people of Europe."

Miss Bondfield told the premier that the women of Great Britain will not countenance another war.

Re-Vamp Bible for Sect; Cost $50,000

URBANA, O.—A new translation of the Bible, including only the books which, in the opinion of Swedenborg, have an inner or symbolic meaning, will be undertaken at once by the New Church (Swedenborgian) under authority of a resolution adopted by the church convention here.

The work, which has been in contemplation for more than forty years, is made possible by the donation of sufficient funds by George Marchant, a wealthy member of the sect, who resides in Brisbane, Australia.

The task will require from five to six years to complete, and its total cost is estimated at $50,000, or more.

"We intend to produce a slightly more accurate and scientific translation of the Bible, with all the aid which modern research can give," said Rev. William L. Worcester, president of the convention, in explaining the plan.

DEBATING TALENT AT HIGH SCHOOL APPEARS GOOD

Harold L. Brewster, Coach of Public Speaking, Sees Prospects of Victory

Prospects for several debating victories this year are very bright, according to Harold L. Brewster, coach of public speaking at Glendale Union High school.

High schools in the Central Athletic league of which Glendale has been a member for a number of seasons are now contemplating the organization of a debating league. Other high schools in this league are South Pasadena, Franklin, Citrus, Monrovia and Alhambra.

Owing to the fact that this group of schools has had no debating league heretofore, the local high school last year debated in the Southern California league which includes high schools of much larger size such as Long Beach, San Diego and Pasadena.

To Work in Class

The possibility of Glendale participating in the activities of both leagues is being considered by Principal George U. Moyse. He intimated this morning that if a sufficient number of debaters seemed available this probably would be done.

An earnest attempt is to be made this semester at Glendale Union High school to permit debaters to do much of their preparatory work in class instead of obliging them to whip their material in shape after school and at night to the detriment of their other subjects. It is believed that each debate will require about six weeks' study.

Display Ability

The class in public speaking, according to Mr. Brewster, contains a number of students who show much aptitude and who are likely to make debating teams. Among those enrolled are the following: Horace Anderson, Miss Ruth Chaffin, Paul Edmonds, Miss June Hulburt, Miss Nadene King, Harold Majors, Miss Kathryn McNary, Miss Vera Morrow, Fred Peck, Miss Isabel Tousey, Newell Tune, Miss Rose Watrous and Sidney Williams.

Mr. Brewster last term was a member of the faculty of Long Beach Polytechnic High school.

Refuses Stock for Prehistoric Tooth

RICHWOOD, W. Va.—An exhibit placed on display in a front window of a drug store here is attracting considerable attention. It is a molar tooth, six inches long and four inches wide, supposed to have been a tooth of a prehistoric mastodon. It is owned by G. W. Lawson, of Donald. It was originally found ten years ago by Willis Milam in the waters of Pelky river, in Jackson county. He traded it away for a plug of tobacco. Mr. Lawson says he recently refused an offer of $2000 in oil stock for it.

Building in Glendale

Whether business is exceptionally good or whether it is uncertain—the people in Glendale go ahead with their building. Permits in this month of September will exceed half a million.

—And why shouldn't they?

In the days of '49, when everyone had the "gold fever," small cities would spring up over night wherever a "gold strike" had been reported, but the structures were far from being permanent. The prospectors were well aware of the fact that should the gold "peter out" they would be on the move the next day for new fields.

Glendale Has Built on Lines of Permanence

When people enter Glendale for the first time they are impressed with the permanent qualities, as well as the indication of growth and expansion. Every good citizen is anxious to aid Glendale in its progress, for it is a progress which is based on a firm foundation. In this you can help by building NOW.

Probing Treatment Given to War Vets

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 22. Charges that wounded war veterans in state insane hospitals have been victims of "inhuman treatment" are to be probed to the bottom by order of President Harding.

The president today ordered Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the veterans' bureau, to render an immediate report as to the truth of charges that ex-service men have been railroaded into insane asylums by "office orders" of veterans' bureau subordinates and not through due legal processes.

Oily Cotton Cause of U. S. Mill Kick

WASHINGTON — Criticism of American cotton because of the presence of oil has been made to the department of agriculture by spinning mills, according to officials.

Asserting that carelessness in handling cotton bales and in oiling machinery probably was the source of the damage, a cotton specialist of the department said:

"Practices which result in damage to cotton will lead in time to the custom of assessing regular penalties against all cotton originating at the points from which shipments of such damaged cotton are made."

U. S. Represented at New Peace Meet

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The United States, while holding strictly aloof from the political squabbles and intrigues that have brought Europe to the verge of anothr war probably will be represented at the Near East peace conference soon to be held in Rome or Venice, it was said today in official quarters.

The American representation, however, would be confined solely to an "unofficial observer," who would take no direct part in the conference itself, nor have any power of commitment in behalf of the American government.

Bill Will Prevent Gambling In Grain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — President Harding today signed the Capper-Tincher "anti-grain gambling bill," designed to prevent manipulation of grain prices by regulating trading in futures.

The first futures trading act was declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court because the taxing power of congress was used to enforce the law. The present law is designed to remove the defects pointed out by the supreme court in its decision.

The law will be administered by the secretary of agriculture.

Council assembled at 8 o'clock p. m. All members present. Minutes of September 14 read and approved. Councilman Davis excused.

Discuss Sewage Plans

Dr. Jessie Russell, representing the Federated Improvement Association of the city of Glendale, appeared and addressed the council regarding the question taken up in the meetings of that body in connection with the possible solution to Glendale sewers, stating that it was the unanimous opinion of the Federated Improvement Association that the city open negotiations at the earliest date possible to tie up with the Los Angeles outfall sewer, and that a temporary disposal plant to take care of the present needs be taken under consideration. On motion of Councilman Kimlin the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, the city of Los Angeles has recently voted bonds for the construction of a new outfall sewer and, whereas, the city of Glendale is seeking a satisfactory means of disposal for sewage and a connection with said proposed new outfall sewer of the city of Los Angeles, would, if it could be secured on suitable terms, be a satisfactory means of disposal of Glendale sewage. Now, therefore, be it resolved by the council of the city of Glendale, that the city of Los Angeles be requested to enter into negotiations with a view of making some mutually satisfactory arrangement for disposing of Glendale sewage through said new Los Angeles outfall sewer and the mayor and city manager are hereby directed to take the matter up with the proper authorities of the city of Los Angeles.

Voting Machine to Be Tried In Paris

PARIS.—Paris is experimenting with a voting machine, which, with city traffic semaphores, is the latest fad to be discussed in Paris political salons. "The machine is a pretty instrument. To work it one pushes a button, which gives the sensation of manipulating a penny in the slot chocolate or chewing gum machine," declares Le Cri de Paris. "The Rumanian inventor, Russo, was asked why it hadn't been adopted in Rumania.

"'My invention absolutely prevents fraud in elections,' explained Russo. 'That is why there is no chance that it ever will be adopted by any Balkan country'."

URGE NEW TENNIS TILTS BY WOMEN

English Eager for 'Real' Test of Six Best Players of the U. S. and Britain

WIMBLEDON. — British lawn tennis enthusiasts are itching for a real match between the six best women players of the United States and the six best English women. And in their clubs at night they argue that America would not take more than one match out of the six.

This is their line of argument. Mrs. Mallory is the champion of America. She was hopelessly, indisputably beaten here by Miss Kitty McKane, the rising English hope, although the pair never met in the great games at Wimbledon. She was beaten twice by Mrs. Beamish and beat her twice in return. She was beaten by Mrs. Peacock, the third best English player.

Plenty of Stars

Apart from these women there are Mrs. Satterwaite, Miss Rose and Miss Collier, all in the first class. And among the older players are the two ex-champions, Mrs. Lambert Chambers and Mrs. Green, and perhaps the best doubles players of all, Mrs. R. J. McNair.

This combination, British fans believe, would easily defeat any team that America could produce.

It is interesting to note that at the conclusion of the Wimbledon tournament the women playing were ranked in this order:

Mlle. Lenglen, Miss McKane, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Mrs. Beamish, Mrs. Mallory, Mrs. Peacock.

Real Estate Experts Resume Work Soon

Although Doner, Hemenway & Burn have leased their location at 110 South Brand boulevard, they do not intend to retire from business permanently. On the contrary, says Mr. Burn, they will be exceedingly busy. Mr. Doner and Mr. Burn plan to return to active business within a few weeks. Mr. Hemenway, however, proposes to take a year's vation.

As told in The Evening News of last night, A. Deutch, formerly of Indianapolis, In., will open an exclusive shop for women and misses at 110 South Brand as soon as a number of improvements are completed in the building.

The truth never worries about exposure.

German Fete Cause of Police Wrangle

STRASBOURG.—A long drawn-out wrangle has developed because the local musical society, Harmonie, held a Fourteenth of July festival on the French national holiday without first securing the permission of the police authorities. Police action has been commenced against the leaders of the organization.

"Under the German regime the police forced the inhabitants to celebrate the Kaiser's birthday, and proceeded against persons not displaying flags. Today the French punish those who spontaneously celebrate the national holiday," declares an indignant Strasbourg newspaper.

Lovers Argue and Police Are Called

MARTIN'S FERRY, O.—Police here want it distinctly understood that they have troubles enough without settling lovers' quarrels. The edict is the outcome of a telephone call to headquarters telling of a big scrap. When the wagon arrived at the destination quiet reigned, and a woman told them she had called them to convince her sweetheart that she was right in an argument which had been in progress. They refused, however, to take sides.

Sage Tea Dandy To Darken Hair

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly lark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Advertisement.

CONTENTED GLENDALE

A few months ago a real estate man came to me, in my back yard where I was hoeing some garden sass, and asked me to put a price on my place. I did, stating that I didn't care to sell, as I was perfectly contented. And then he said: "There are more d—n contented people in Glendale than I ever saw in one place in my life." And I believe that he spoke the truth—the people are contented. Buy a lot, build a home and become a contented booster for Glendale. We have lots suitable for large or small homes, duplexes, apartments, courts or business. Come to us, tell us frankly what you want and we will produce the goods. Values from $625 to $23,000. Call or phone us for a "site" seeing tour at our expense. If it's on the east side we have it.

KEEP SHORT SKIRTS

Twenty Montreal girls, rebelling against the long-skirt fashion, intend to keep their short skirts on. They have formed a "No-Longer Skirt League." The members pledge themselves to induce other young women to keep their skirts short. History has no record of a people once emancipated, going back to their shackles voluntarily. Long live the league!

T·D & L THEATRE Today

James Oliver Curwood's Greatest Story

"The Valley of Silent Men"

With Alma Rubens

Alma Rubens in the Paramount Picture "The Valley of Silent Men" Created by Cosmopolitan Productions

Come along to the white land where courage and daring rule, and see this battle for life and love. See the greatest Curwood drama ever written. Thrill with the star of "Humoresque" and others in the brilliant cast. A picture you'll be proud to talk about.

FAR NORTH STORY TOLD ON SCREEN

'The Valley of Silent Men' by James Oliver Curwood T. D. L. Offering

"The Valley of Silent Men," by James Oliver Curwood, romancer of the Canadian Rockies, is the film feature being offered at the T. D. & L. Theatre today.

Cosmopolitan Productions on acquiring the motion-picture rights to "The Valley of Silent Men," sent a company up into the mountains in the early spring before the snows began to melt. For twelve weeks they camped and took pictures about Banff and Lake Louise, and the camera caught that miracle of nature, the coming of spring in the snowy wilderness, for the setting for one of Curwood's greatest stories.

Miss Alma Rubens and Lew Cody had the cast and one of the real thrills of the film is taken on the Kipewa river, where the hero and heroine leap from their boat just as it is about to go over the rapids.

Adding local color to various scenes are Indians of the Stoney tribe under Chief John Powderface, who appears in the film in character parts.

BLOCK DYE EXTENSION

Explains Cafeteria

Mrs. A. L. Knefler, manager of the cafeteria of the Columbus Avenue school, was introduced, and gave a talk on how the cafeteria is managed and also the possibility of the establishment of a simlar institution at the Pacific Avenue school.

Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, made an announcement of the First Dist. conference to be held in South Pasadena on October 26, when the special topics of legislation, thrift and membership will be discussed. Mrs. Moore also urged attendance at the federation meetings, which are held the second Wednesday of each month in the cafeteria room of the high school.

An invitation was extended to the association members by Mrs. Rosenberg to attend the meetings of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle held at the library every Wednesday. Miss May Smith, music teacher, delighted the members with two piano selections.

Crowded Schools

Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools, was also a speaker at the meeting, and told of the crowded conditions in the schools. He stated that adjustments would be made as soon as possible. As the matter of a cafeteria was under consideration, he told of the management of the cafeteria at the Intermediate school. This was followed by a general discussion of the cafeteria problem and a committee was appointed to investigate and report to the association at the next meeting, the members of which include Mrs. Leslie Tronsier, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Ross Russell, Mrs Mae Rosenberg and Mrs. Fannie Stone.

The new officers of the association served iced tea and cake in the members at the close of the business session.

Turkish Army Ready for European Attack

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 22.—Unless there is an immediate peace conference at which Constantinople and Eastern Thrace are granted to Turkey, the Turkish army will open an attack in an effort to force its way into Europe, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Angora government has informed General Pelle, the French high commissioner, it was learned today. Kemel was quoted as saying:

"I am unable to restrain my troops. I can hold them back only a few days longer unless there is an immediate peace conference at Mudania which will concede Constantinople and Eastern Thrace to Turkey. We are willing to enter Constantinople with only a limited number of troops so long as the allies are occupying the city."

Mudania is in Asiatic Turkey on the southern shore of the Turkish straits.

General Pelle has made representations to Kemal warning him against going to war against the British. Despite Kemal's warlike declaration General Pelle is understood to be hopeful that a conflict will be averted.

British airmen report that the Turks are concentrating troops.

G. H. HALL TELLS EXPERIENCES IN SO. AMERICA

Returns After Year Spent In Interesting Country; Relates Native Customs

Valparaiso in twenty-one days and then took the train inland to Santiago.

Mr. Hall left New York October 26 with cold weather prevailing, and he says it was rather a confusing experience to reach his destination and find it springtime. Upon his return, he left Chili August 2 of this year, with three feet of snow on the ground and arrived in New York to find real summer weather prevailing.

Native labor was used by Mr. Hall in his work at the "Teniente" and he says that one cannot appreciate the full meaning of this problem unless they have experienced it themselves. He says the native South American of the type of our peons never reaches a mental development above ten years, and that, although they are willing to work hard for little pay, they are not capable of great responsibility.

Children Seldom Laugh

In telling of the natives Mr. Hall says the children are very sober and it is rare that one ever sees them laugh or smile or hears them shouting or playing boisterously. He says that very few of the native men live past 45 years.

They are a hard-working class and nearly all Catholics. There are many Catholic churches throughout the country and the priests wear the gowns and hats as they do in France and other Latin countries.

Like the natives of all countries the Chileans have their own style of handiwork and among Mr. Hall's souvenirs are a collection of wool rugs. The natives make the rugs out of sheep's wool and use them to put under their saddles. The rugs are strongly woven of nothing but wool, with fringed ends.

Dyes Native Secret

An interesting feature is the coloring used. Some of the rugs are entirely black, others tan, while others in Mr. Hall's collection are done in brilliant colors. The dyes used by the natives. Mr. Hall says, are a native secret. Germany has sent agents into the country in an attempt to find out the secret of the dyes, but have never succeeded.

One of the rugs brought home by Mr. Hall shows bright purples and cerise with designs of human figures.

Another souvenir highly prized by Mr. Hall is a beautifully hand-carved wooden box, made for him by one of the natives. It is a perfect piece of workmanship, with symmetrical carving and monogram on the exterior and a glass-lined interior.

South America looks very much like South California, says Mr. Hall. There are the big eucalyptus trees and the wide fertile valleys such as we have here, and, aside from the reversal of the seasons, there are sections of the country that one might be sure were parts of Southern California.

Mr. Hall will not remain in California long, expecting to be sent by his company to an eastern point to take charge of another large engineering contract.

PARIS VISITORS KNOW CITY BEST

Transients Well Supplied With Information; Much English Literature

PARIS.—American and English visitors know Paris better than the Parisians.

The Excelsior makes the statement, based on the amount of literature appearing in English, and only in English, explaining Paris and interpreting Paris and in general telling one in such detail just what to do when you get to Paris, that the reader becomes more sophisticated regarding Parisian life and customs than the street gamins themselves.

Paris's Syndicat d'Initiative—which corresponds to our Commercial club, or Chamber of Commerce committee to boost a city—has published such a guide, which the Excelsior cites to prove its point. By using this guide the visitor from Wyoming or Texas is better informed about Paris hotels than any tourist agency. Clear maps tell him exactly where to go. He is initiated into the mysteries of taxi fares and the puzzling "how much to tip." He is told how much he should pay for a hotel room, with one bed or two, according to the floor, and what to demand with breakfast. He is enabled to make a budget for his stay which the Excelsior characterizes as "alarming precision."

"A Frenchman has to get this information for himself," the article concludes.

TO PLAN TAG DAY

Following the endorsement by the Chamber of Commerce of a tag day to raise funds towards the $25,000 bonus to be paid the Glendale and Montrose railway for the establishment of electric service on Glendale avenue, the support of Glendale club women has been solicited and a committee of representatives is to be formed and the first meeting called for Monday, September 25, at 2:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce building.

CITY MAY CONNECT TO LOS ANGELES SEWER PLANT

geles has recently voted bonds for the construction of a new outfall sewer and, whereas, the city of Glendale is seeking a satisfactory means of disposal for sewage and a connection with said new outfall sewer of the city of Los Angeles, would, if it could be secured on suitable terms, be a satisfactory means of disposal of Glendale sewage.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the council of the city of Glendale, that the city of Los Angeles be requested to enter into negotiations with a view to making some mutually satisfactory arrangement for disposing of Glendale sewage through said new Los Angeles outfall sewer and the mayor and city manager are hereby directed to take the matter up with proper authorities of the city of Los Angeles."

The Federated Improvement association was represented before the council last night by Dr. Jessie Russell, L. H. Griffin, secretary of the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce; C. W. Ingledue, president of the Glendale Advancement association; E. H. Botsford, president of the Foothill Improvement association; William Griffin, president of the San Fernando Boulevard association; and H. L. Finlay, president of the West Glendale Improvement association.

It takes nerve to be truly honest.

ness argument of the Republicans.

One fact that the Democrats will stress is that the Republicans closed this session of Congress with a deficit of $650,000,000 staring them in the face—reported by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as one of the chief causes of the bonus veto.

The tariff of 1922 will form one of the chief, if not the chief campaign issues for the next six weeks, it was conceded today by leaders on both sides.

The ten outstanding features of the second session of the sixty-seventh congress record:

1. Inauguration of the budget system.
2. Agricultural credits acts, extending financial relief to farmers.
3. Ratification of the treaties growing out of the Washington conference.
4. Renewal of three per cent immigration law.
5. Passage of the Capper-Tincher anti-gambling grain bill.
6. The tariff act of 1922, imposing the highest protective rates since the Payne-Aldrich bill.
7. Rejection of the soldiers' bonus, after a veto by President Harding.
8. Legislation aimed at stabilizing the coal industry.
9. Creation of an American debt funding commission to collect foreign indebtedness.
10. The seating of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan.

Women Worry About Ohio Chain Letter

ELYRIA, Ohio.—The old chain letter has been revived in this section of the state, and is worrying scores of superstitious women.

The latest letter reads:

"Copy this and send to nine friends whom you wish good luck. The chain was started by an American officer in France, and should go around the world three times. Do not break the chain, or bad luck will follow. Do this within twenty-four hours, then count nine days, and you will have good fortune. Good luck!"
